SEASIDERS' SURVIVAL HOPES RISE

DEBT-RIDDEN Folkestone Invicta FC has received a stay of execution after a successful first meeting with HM Revenue and Customs.

Invicta will now definitely finish the season, having negotiated a potentially club-saving reduction in its tax liabilities during the meeting last week.

It means that three months after announcing debts of more than £200,000, the Seasiders can finally look to the future with some certainty.

Former Ashford Town chairman

Mark Jenner, who was brought in to help find a solution, emerged from the meeting cautiously optimistic.

■ BY DAVID PRITCHARD

He said: "It's small steps and we're taking them one at a time. Now at least we have the certainty we will see out this season. One thing we can assure people is that Invicta will still be here as a club. We have absolute confidence we'll be starting next season."

In addition to postponing any further contact until the summer, the club negotiated a reduction in its outstanding taxes, which date to 2001.

HMRC agreed to scrap the interest and penalties on the arrears – a discount worth some £50,000.

While the amount owed is still measured in tens of thousands of pounds, Mr Jenner believes the club can survive.

He said: "Our argument was we haven't got the money and those sums were clearly beyond a club of this size to generate. It may be feasible to look at a payment schedule over a number of years and I'm confident we'll come to some sort of arrangement."

The club still has other debts to address, including a bank loan, an overdraft and a separate tax claim.

CLIFF AND SHADOW

Shadow the husky had a lucky escape after falling down a cliff face in thick fog. Shadow was walking with his owner just off Wear Bay Road, Folkestone, on Wednesday last week, when the dog took a 20ft tumble, shortly after 9.30am.

Luckily the four-year-old pet landed unhurt on a ledge, but the cliff was too steep to climb back up and his owner called Kent Fire and Rescue. Two crews from Folkestone were sent out, plus a specialist line rescue team from Deal – including watch manager Paul Vanstone (pictured), who used their equipment to reach Shadow.

Deal station commander John Yore said: "It was misty and the dog strayed too close to the edge. Fortunately he landed on a ledge about 20ft down. The rescue was awkward as it was a sheer cliff, but the team found a safe access. Eventually we got Shadow in a harness and rescued him, to be reunited with his grateful owner at the top of the cliff."

Estate agents stay positive about state of the market

■ BY JAMES ALEXANDRE

SHEPWAY'S housing market has not escaped the downturn, although the new year has started brightly, according to estate agents.

Those sellers who are eager to move and lower their asking price are most likely to get a result, along with those who can raise the necessary deposit and are not part of a chain.

James Hawkins, director of James Hawkins & Co in New Romney, said the period between the end of December and beginning of January had been "absolutely manic" and he was being kept extremely busy.

He said: "We were expecting a quiet period, but there has been a lot of activity and offers made in the first two weeks of January.

"Many people seem to be finding a bargain at the lower end of market and are reinvesting in property as savings are now so low."

Increase

However, he said the market was still quite slow to recover, with some sellers reluctant to put their home up for sale, but that people were still snapping up what was available at cheaper prices:

"There's a definite increase in the number of first-time buyers, just so long as they can raise the 20 per cent deposit necessary.

"It's the people who are only selling and have nothing to buy who are losing out."

He gave the example of a three bedroom end-of-terrace house in New Romney which is going for £105,000, a price more usually associated with a flat or apartment.

Charlie Athow, sales director of Philip A Chapman in Hythe, also said January had seen an increase:

"Those people who have been hanging on to properties probably can't hang on much longer."

Motivation

"Generally it's quite quiet over Christmas, but it now seems to be everyone's new year resolution to complete their move."

"It leaves sellers who are motivated to sell and buyers who are serious about buying, so no room for time-wasters."

David Bateman, of Bateman's in Lydd, also said there had been a rise in interest over the last couple of months, although he estimated it to be about 75 per cent less than this time last year.

He told Yourshepway: "What goes up must of necessity come down."

"Homeowners had got used to the media telling them house prices had gone up by five, seven, eight per cent this month, now we must all get used to a little reality."

He said the best-selling properties were bungalows, with the slowest being ex-local authority three-bedroom houses.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Gurkha barracks to be visited by prince

PRINCE Charles will be at Shorncliffe barracks next week to visit Gurkha soldiers and families of those serving in Afghanistan.

The heir to the throne is Colonel-in-Chief of the Royal Gurkha Rifles and will meet the rear party of the regiment's 2nd Battalion on Wednesday.

Some 650 members of 2 RGR are deployed abroad, while the 160-strong rear party provides vital support to those on operations as well as looking after the welfare of the families they have left behind.

Date set for Tunnel to resume a full service

SERVICES through the Channel Tunnel will be back to normal within three weeks, barely five months after September's fire.

A series of tests will take place at the start of February after repairs to interval six of the Tunnel, in time for Valentine's Day and the start of the half-term holidays.

From the night of February 9-10, Eurotunnel shuttles and Eurostar trains will be able to travel through the Tunnel at their usual speeds rather than at a restricted level.

From February 10, departures for truck shuttles will be able to increase to six per hour in each direction.

Fire-fighters called to rescue pair from mud

A WOMAN and her pet dog had to be rescued after becoming stuck in the mud at Folkestone harbour.

Fire crews were called to the scene on Sunday after she tried to get the animal, thought to be a dachshund, at about 11.20am.

Two pumps were sent from Folkestone and another from Whitstable, which has specialist water equipment.

The woman, believed to be in her mid-50s, was stuck up to her ankles in mud and holding the dog by the time fire-fighters reached her.

She was freed at 11.53am while it was still low tide.

The princess rests in a hotel while author stays at home

Census reveals who was where in 1911

FAMOUS figures from Folkestone's past been revealed after census records were released for the first time last week.

Novelists, military personnel and Russian royalty are among the illustrious figures listed in the 1911 census, which has been launched online.

It has the names, addresses, ages and occupations of everyone who was in the country at that time.

One of those named as being at home on the night of Sunday, April 2, 1911, is Irish author Bethile Marie Croker, who wrote the likes of Road To Mandalay, Beyond The Pale and Nine Days Wonder.

Her fame at that time was such that several of her books were serialised in The Times.

She is the signatory on the record for her house at 5 Radnor Cliff, including her profession as a "nominist" as it appears on the webpage when scanned from the original document.

The census in 1911 is the first to show the household schedules, or forms, which the occupiers had to fill in for themselves, complete with mistakes and sketches.

■ BY JAMES ALEXANDRE

BM Croker is listed as living with her husband of 39 years, Lieutenant Colonel John Croker, a late officer of the Royal Scots Fusiliers, along with a cook, a servant and two nurses.

A search of the records for The Grand Hotel on The Leas reveals the glamorous clientele who were staying over at the time.

Prince Vladimir Bariatinsky, one of a long line of Russian military commanders, and his wife Princess Lydia were among those named as "visitors" on the census.

The prince lists his occupation as a "man of letters", while the princess is a "dramatic artist".

John Frederick Pollock, a barrister and author from London, was also a guest at The Grand on the night and, according to other historical sources, later married Princess Lydia in 1920.

People of note among the visitors include a journalist and author by the name of WC Courtney, army officer Captain C Moberly and 66-year-old architect and surveyor William Bradford.

Others are listed as a banker, merchant and accountant, together with students of agriculture, domestic servants, ladies' maids and a chauffeur.

Another novelist, Jocelyn Brooke, a contemporary of Evelyn Waugh and Anthony Powell who wrote Military Orchid, A Mine Of Serpents and The Goose Cathedral, is listed as the two-year-old son of wine merchant Henry Brooke and wife of 15 years May.

Their home at 9 Radnor Cliff also shows they had a housemaid, nurse and cook, together with an Argentinian visitor by the name of Marion Frances Daniel.

However, a search for HG Wells, arguably Shepway's most famous former resident, who lived at Spade House on Radnor Cliff Crescent around the time and wrote several books there, produces only one match – a Herbert Wells who was a 36-year-old married butler.

• The census is available to view at www.1911census.co.uk.

HISTORIC BEAUTY: Princess Lydia Bariatinsky of Russia later married an Englishman who had also stayed at The Grand in Folkestone during the night of the 1911 census

Keeping posted on bluetongue danger

POSTCARDS have been sent to farmers reminding them to vaccinate sheep and cattle against bluetongue.

Posters have also been put up at livestock markets, shows and veterinary surgeries as part of a National Farmers' Union scheme.

Bluetongue is an insect-borne viral disease that can cause severe sickness and death in animals if untreated.

Its name comes from the symptom of swollen lips and tongues seen in some cases.

The NFU's James Mulleneux said: "Farmers should contact their vet now, order BTV8 vaccine and make time to vaccinate."

"Bluetongue hasn't gone away."

"On the Continent the effects of the disease have been terrible, with more than 22,000 cases in France."

Expert Dr Chris Oura will be giving advice on the disease at Ashford market from 6pm on Wednesday, February 11.

Couple's world tour

A FOLKESTONE couple have embarked upon an adventure of a lifetime by setting off on a round-the-world trip.

Rob Gill, who was the grocery manager at Sainsbury's in Bouverie Road West, and girlfriend Becky Horan, who worked in the pharmacy at the supermarket's West Park Farm store, began their journey in China last month.

They planned to do some backpacking for about two weeks before moving on to Australia, where they will be living and working for the majority of the time.

They then intend to spend two weeks in Fiji and a month in the US before flying back to the UK.

GYM'LL FIX IT FOR YOU AND INVICTA

Players from Folkestone Invicta FC are put through their paces at the South Kent College gym.

The campus in Shorncliffe Road, Folkestone, has reopened its Fitness Zone to the public and is encouraging everyone to sign up to work off the Christmas excess and keep themselves in shape.

Government policy is to offer three hours of sports activities to teenagers each week and the college wants more people to benefit - especially given the recession-beating price.

Membership is £14 per month and includes a cardiovascular suite with climbing, running and rowing machines, weights area and an aerobics studio with personal training available.

Complete lower body workout sessions start today (Wednesday) and are suitable for all levels of fitness. Phone 07843 175480, or visit www.southkent.ac.uk/fitnesszone.

Risk to nuclear plants from airport growth 'acceptable'

A NUCLEAR inspector's report has concluded that expansion at Lydd airport would prove little risk to the nuclear power stations at Dungeness.

Fears that a rise in the number of flights would increase the chances of the reactor being hit were dismissed by the Government's Health and Safety Executive, which said that any danger would be "sufficiently small" and within acceptable limits.

The report said: "In an analysis of flight activities to 2014, the airport operations contribute a small proportion of the total risk."

"While we acknowledge that an increase in operations at the airport will increase the risk of an accident which could lead to a release of radiation, our assessment of that risk has found it to be within the targets laid down in our safety assessment principles."

Louise Barton, chairwoman of the Lydd Airport Action Group, disputed the report's basis, saying that much of what the inspector had said contradicted the original safety advice given in 1988, when proposals were first made to expand Lydd airport.

■ BY JAMES ALEXANDRE

She said: "Some of the safety information contained in this report contradicts what was written for the application in 1988."

"When the report came out we sent in an application to the nuclear equivalent of the Ombudsman to try to find out on what assumptions the report was written and we are still waiting for them to come clean."

She said the inspector's failure to oppose the expansion could lead to a backlash among residents who were otherwise happy to see a new power station built at Dungeness.

"People aren't anti-nuclear, but they are anti-airport. British Energy is hosting meetings in the area about building a new station, but if Shepway council allows the airport expansion to go ahead people could turn against the idea because of fears about safety, such as accidental crash damage.

"The goodwill towards the power station could turn negative. We're not going to lie down like lambs. We haven't had an explanation and we deserve one."

The group also commissioned its own report from health and safety professionals, which said it was unclear how the inspectorate reached its conclusions, since the flight paths included in the current proposals were considered unacceptable in 1988.

The news comes after Lydd airport bosses welcomed the announcement of the decision to build a third runway at Heathrow, while recognising the importance of expanding regional airports.

The airport has submitted two planning applications to Shepway council, for a new 500,000-passenger terminal building and a 444-metre runway extension. A decision on the applications is expected in the spring.

District's schools rise to league tables challenge

THE district's schools have reason to be cheerful after this year's GCSE league tables showed an impressive improvement in results.

Folkestone School for Girls and Harvey Grammar topped the class, with 96 per cent and 94 per cent success rates respectively.

New Romney's Marsh Academy, which opened in August 2007, exceeded the benchmark, with 32 per cent of pupils gaining A*-C grades including English and maths.

Meanwhile, Brockhill Park Performing Arts School, which was one of two Shepway schools told to improve or face possible closure, met the 30 per cent target head-on – up from 28 per cent the previous year.

It was named in the Government's national challenge in June last year as being one of 638 schools in the country and 33 in Kent told to meet the GCSE target within three years.

■ BY JAMES ALEXANDRE

Head-teacher Sonette Schwartz said the results were a testimony to the hard work of students and staff:

"It's an improvement and we're very excited as we are no longer in the national challenge. We met our threshold – as we knew we would."

"In terms of value-added, we're the best school in Shepway and are getting the results we should get."

"It reiterates what we believe about ourselves, that the students do very well."

She put the success down to the school's introduction of innovative teaching methods, such as vertical tutor groups.

Ms Schwartz said: "Our performing arts status also gives us added opportunities and raises confidence among the pupils.

"The Good Schools Guide rated us the best school in England for performing arts."

Pent Valley Technology College in Folkestone narrowly missed out on the 30 per cent target, with 27 per cent. Folkestone Academy, meanwhile, was given only 14 per cent due to many of its subjects being based on alternative qualifications such as apprenticeships and GNVQs.

Mario Citro, head of Pent Valley, said: "We are not concerned about Government targets simply because the ones we set ourselves are usually higher, and over the past two years we have shown we are capable of achieving these."

Death of screen icon who became the Scarecrow

PATRICK McGoohan, star of the 1963 Disney film The Scarecrow of Romney Marsh, died last week at the age of 80 after a short illness.

The Irish-born actor, best known for his 1960s TV roles as Danger Man and later Number Six in cult series The Prisoner, brought the characters of Russell Thorndike's novels to the big screen, playing parish vicar Dr Christopher Syn and his alias the Scarecrow.

The film, along with three television episodes, was recently re-released on DVD. And Yourshepway revealed that Johnny Depp was rumoured to be starring in a future Disney remake.

LEGEND: McGoohan in The Prisoner

QUICK ON THE DRAW

More than 600 people took part in a budget survey and told Shepway council where it should spend its money.

Affordable housing emerged as the highest priority, with keeping the district safe second and opportunities for young people in third.

Other priorities included cleaner streets, more opportunities for sport and leisure, and maintaining parks and open spaces.

Matters covered in the survey included value for money from council tax and what services Shepway should spend more, or less, money on to help it balance the books.

The survey involved questionnaires and a 'spendometer' at Folkestone's Civic Centre during National Customer Services Week in October.

Cllr David Monk, cabinet member for finance, said a detailed analysis of the results would be included in the medium-term financial strategy to be considered this month.

The survey included an opportunity for people to enter a prize draw for £50 of shopping vouchers.

The draw was made by Cllr Monk and Kathryn Beldon, corporate director for technical and finance, and won by Kathryn Champion, of Middle Mead, Folkestone.

Council jobs under threat due to financial climate

SHEPWAY council has admitted that jobs could be at risk due to the downturn and the need to make savings.

The news comes after the Local Government Association revealed that one in seven councils nationally have had to axe staff over the last few months, with the prospect of more to come.

The announcement comes as council tax rates are set for the next 12 months, with the average band D property expected to rise by 4.7 per cent.

A council spokesman said: "Like any organisation, we are not immune to the need to make savings as the credit crunch continues. Some of these savings will come as a result of not filling vacant posts, which will be scrutinised before the decision to recruit is made.

"With the continued drive for efficiency in local government, reviews of services to increase efficiency and reduce costs may result in small numbers of staff being at risk."

Struggling

A draft budget report last month said spending pressures and the rising cost of living would lead to higher pay settlements for employees, leaving the council struggling to balance the books.

It revealed that due to the Government only awarding a 0.5 per cent increase in its annual grant and other financial obligations, Shepway council would "have to arrive at an affordable but fair settlement for its employees".

The chairwoman of the Local Government Association, Cllr Margaret Eaton, said: "The recession is causing a decline in income and an ever greater demand for essential services such as help for the homeless and increased support for local businesses.

"It is an unpleasant decision for any council to cut jobs, but they also understand local people are suffering. Councils are working hard to keep council tax down."

Trialling extended hours for Blood Test services at the Folkestone NHS Walk-in Centre

The NHS in Eastern and Coastal Kent is pleased to announce a temporary extension of availability and opening hours of blood test services at Folkestone NHS Walk in-Centre, part of the Royal Victoria Hospital in Radnor Park Avenue.

The extended blood test service will be open for 3 extra hours in the weekday evenings and Saturday morning to test the demand and impact of providing extended Phlebotomy Department opening hours.

The temporary service is available 6 days a week until Saturday 14th March 2009

The opening hours during this trial period are:

Monday to Friday 8.30am – 7.00pm / Saturday 9.00am - Midday

A blood test, during the extended service, will be available as part of your treatment when visiting the Walk-in Centre or by a referral from your Doctor.

It is hoped that this temporary extension will give patients improved access when attending the Walk-in Centre. After the 24 week trial period the number of people using the extended service will be assessed to see if this service should be available for longer hours in the long term.

QUESTION & ANSWER

TONY CLEAVER and TREVOR FOSTER

Q & A

Tony Cleaver and Trevor Foster from the Kent Timewarp Car and Costume Group talk to Tom Betts about all their fund-raising work, their obsession with the 1940s and bringing smiles to people's faces in the area

Q Tell us about your group

A The Kent Timewarp Car and Costume Group was founded in 2005 after a fund-raiser by myself (Tony), Trevor Foster and James Bianchi for the Gateway Hospital Broadcasting Service. We go to classic car shows and local events with our historic vehicles dressing in period costumes. Our members are now from across Kent and consist of those from other car groups such as the East Kent Morris Minor Club and those who are independent – now having around 20 members. Support comes from Dover Town Council, who helped us establish ourselves and Ritzzy Retro's heritage fashion shop in Broadstairs. We offer a unique glimpse into modern history and English eccentricity.

Q Why do you do it?

A We raise money for local charities and organisations in Kent, so far raising approximately £1,000, which included £60 for the Gateway Hospital Broadcasting Service in Dover and £400 for the local branch of the Muscular Dystrophy Campaign. We are currently raising funds for the Deal and Dover Volunteer Bureau. Raising the profile of local events and heritage tourism attractions that are mostly volunteer-led is also a big part of the group's ethos through promotion. And most importantly we love seeing people's memories come alive and the smiles on people's faces.

Q What is your role within the group?

A Both myself and Trevor are founder members. We arrange the events that we attend and decide on the organisations/groups we support on a yearly and event basis. Liaising with local groups, organisations and businesses for support is also a huge part of our job.

Q Do you enjoy it?

A We thoroughly enjoy raising money for local charities and seeing the smiles on people at events when we cheer them up.

Q What events have you recently attended?

A We recently attended the second Hothfield History Day near Ashford by the Hothfield Heritage Society, raising the profile of the history of the village. We also attended our third Dover Christmas Cheer Extravaganza and lights switch-on. For this we would like to thank Dover Town Council and Tracey Hubbard for inviting us along and for the people giving donations for the Dover and Deal Volunteer Bureau.

Q What is your greatest achievement?

A Establishing the group and making people smile even in a recession! Managing to get support from local businesses and donations of sweets to distribute at the Christmas Cheer event in Dover. For this we would like to thank Asda in Folkestone and the Co-op in River, near Dover, for their donations of sweets to help raise funds for the Dover and District Volunteer Bureau. We'd like also to thank Somerfield, Tesco and Iceland for their support towards last year's Dover Christmas Extravaganza.

Q If you had one wish for Dover, what would it be?

A I would like it to be a successful and prosperous town with low unemployment. This would help other aspects of the town such as morale, tourism and quality of life.

Q What other hobbies and interests do you have?

A Tony: I support other local organisations including the Dover George Cross Campaign, which I am a member of. In the past I have also been involved in video production with the Deal Time Ball Tower and Western Heights Preservation Society, whose events our group likes to attend.

Trevor: I have an interest in the 1940s fashions, vehicles and the life of people who lived in that period. I regularly attend 1940s re-enactment days such as the Hellfire Corner Society's Dover 1940s weekend held in June every year.

Fat chance to win money

NHS scheme to offer obese cash incentive for losing weight

■ BY JENNA PUDELIK

OBESE people are set to receive cash rewards from the NHS of more than £400 for losing weight.

But the Tories' health spokesman said he was "sceptical" about using taxpayers' cash to reward people for dieting.

East Kent health bosses are calling for hundreds of overweight men and women to take part in the trial and dieters can choose from cash or vouchers for holidays and shopping for dropping a few dress sizes or losing their beer bellies.

Rewards range from £70 for shifting 15lbs, to £425 for losing 50lbs and keeping it off for six months.

Shadow health secretary, Andrew Lansley, said: "While incentive schemes can be useful in helping people to lose weight, we are extremely sceptical about whether public money should be handed over in this manner.

Exercise

"Incentives should be geared around sustaining people's drive to lose weight, for example by encouraging them to do more exercise, not simply handing over taxpayers' hard-earned money."

But the country is facing an obesity crisis - the NHS in east Kent alone spends around £200million a year treating people for diseases linked to being obese or overweight such as type 2 diabetes, heart disease and cancer.

NHS Eastern and Coastal Kent's public health specialist Claire Martin said: "In east Kent one in four people are obese so it is very clear that people need help to achieve a healthy weight."

"The whole issue of increasing levels of obesity is very complex and is clearly not just about choice."

"The annual cost to the NHS in east Kent is one fifth of its annual budget - so we need to look at ways of reducing this cost locally."

INCENTIVE: Health bosses are calling on the obese to take part in trial to earn rewards for shedding excess pounds

If the 'pounds for pounds' trial is successful and value for money it could be rolled out across the county and nationally.

The NHS in west Kent forks out £130million and in Medway £70million a year treating the overweight and obese.

Nationally more than 9,000 people die too young from obesity.

Government figures show that by 2015 the county's taxpayers will be spending £448million on the over-eating and under-exercising crisis.

Obesity specialist Ms Martin said the focus of the Kent scheme would reward for gradual weight loss, a balanced diet and lifestyle.

Its aim is long-term weight control, she said.

But experts say many people over eat for emotional reasons and can turn to food like some turn to drugs or alcohol.

Asked whether the dieters will be too motivated by the money and revert to their fatty food habits after collecting the cash, Ms Martin said: "We recognise that achieving a healthy weight is complex and different levels of service need to be put in place for different people."

"For a proportion of the population the trial might be the programme that makes the difference for them."

"For others, a more specialised service will be required and we are investing in other programmes that address greater complexities within individuals as to why they have difficulty achieving a healthy weight."

• If you want to take part in the trial visit www.nhsweightlosstrial.com or call the helpline on 0800 849 4000.

POP IDOLS: The Cheeky Girls visited school in Sevenoaks

Cheeky little visit for singing pupils

POP beauties The Cheeky Girls were in Kent last week to hand over the prizes in a major school music competition.

They met pupils at the Sevenoaks Preparatory School, who won the Royal London Society for the Blind's inaugural White Christmas singing competition.

Keen RLSB supporters The Cheeky Girls judged the competition for the RLSB, and then listened to the winning pupils from Sevenoaks Preparatory School perform their successful version of the classic, Ave Maria.

The winners will also be recording their winning song at the school's sound studio.

Year Six pupil Jordan said: "It's been great to meet the Cheeky Girls, and I'm certain we can defend our title next time."

The Cheeky Girls do not charge for their appearances for the RLSB.

Monica Irimia, said: "Gaby and I have been delighted to be judges in this singing competition for the RLSB, and it's been great fun to meet and listen to the children from local schools. We'll definitely be back again for judge the next one."

Second and third places went to Dunton Green Primary and Seal Primary respectively.

Joanna slams 'exaggerated' cost of letting Gurkhas stay in the UK

■ BY STEVE KNIGHT

ACTRESS Joanna Lumley has declared war on the Ministry of Defence for "exaggerating" the cost of allowing retired Gurkhas to settle in the UK.

Last September, High Court judges ruled the current system of allowing only those soldiers who retired after 1997 to remain in the UK was unlawful and ordered the Home Office to come up with new rules.

Former Absolutely Fabulous star Lumley is backing a national campaign to secure equal rights for the Nepalese fighters, many of whom are based in Kent.

Shorncliffe Barracks in Folkestone is home to the 2nd Battalion The Royal Gurkha Rifles, who are currently serving in Afghanistan, BATTLE: Joanna Lumley is fighting for Gurkhas' rights while almost half the soldiers from the Maidstone-based 36 Engineers Regiment are Queen's Gurkha Engineers.

Responding to fears that Gurkhas will become too expensive as a result of the court ruling and be dropped from the Army as a result, Lumley said the numbers entering the country would be small compared with other immigrant figures.

She said: "The MoD is making wildly exaggerated claims that as many as 50,000 may come."

"The Home Affairs Select Committee took evidence on this matter last year, and the figure is more likely to be between 3,000 and 5,000."

"Many of them had money deducted from their pay to help pay for it. They have as much right as any British citizen to use it."

An MoD spokeswoman dismissed speculation that it planned to disband the Gurkhas.

She said: "Between 1948 and 1997, some 30,100 Nepalese men joined the Brigade of Gurkhas. There are no plans to disband the Gurkhas, who have served this country with distinction and honour over many decades."

"We are working closely with the Home Office as it develops revised immigration rules for the Gurkhas."

Your chance to join garden birdwatch

THE Big Garden Birdwatch – the world's biggest wildlife survey – takes place this weekend (January 24-25).

Last year, more than 16,000 Kent residents joined half a million people across the UK to note the birds in their garden, revealing which species were doing well and which were struggling.

Last year's results put starlings as the most common garden bird in the county, followed by house sparrows, although numbers of both species were down on previous years.

Hester Phillips, of the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds, said: "The survey started 30 years ago as a winter activity for our youth members. Now it appeals to both children and adults because it's fun, easy and only takes an hour to join in."

"Reaching our 30th birthday is a huge achievement and shows just how passionate people in Kent are about birds and wildlife."

"Over the last 30 years we've clocked up more than three million Big Garden Birdwatch hours in the UK, which is just incredible."

Last year, Kent participants recorded an average of four house sparrows per garden, compared with five in 2007 and 15 in 1991. This echoes the national trend, which has seen house sparrows decline by about two-thirds in the survey's 30-year period.

Make 'em laugh at film festival

THINK you're funny? Can you put it all down on film? If so, you are in with a chance of taking part in an important film-making competition in Kent.

It's called the 2 Days Laughter Short Film Competition 2009.

It is free to enter and will be held on Saturday, April 4, at Theatre Royal Margate and is supported by Screen South and KCC Arts Investment Programme funding.

It is expected to attract more than 300 entries.

Beeping Bush Productions, which runs the 2 Days Later Short Film Competition, is bringing the sound of laughter back to Margate for the second year of 2 Days Laughter Short Film Competition.

Following the success of the first 2 Days Laughter Screenings and Awards Ceremony last April, at the same venue, this year's competition has been expanded to include a special Young Comic Filmmakers' Awards section to allow schools and under-18s to take part.

Mick Etherton, the competition's co-director, said: "We hope this new category and matinee screening event will give an opportunity for Kent schools, youth organisations and individuals to try their hand at making us laugh."

• For more information, phone Mick Etherton or Chris Cordwell of Beeping Bush Ltd on 01843 223800. If you want

Brockhill Park is on the rise

■ BY JAMES ALEXANDRE

BROCKHILL Park has an outstanding curriculum and standards reached are among the highest in the country, according to its most recent Ofsted report.

The specialist school in Sandling Road, Saltwood, received an overall rating of good, the second highest category, in recognition of its impact on the performing arts curriculum.

Students also reached broadly average standards in other subjects by the end of key stage four, helped by its "caring and supportive community".

However, some subjects varied when compared with other schools nationally, with standards in English and maths below the average. Attendance is good, although some students miss out due to parents taking them on holiday during term-time.

Pupils' personal development and well-being are highlighted, with behaviour and attitudes having improved since the school's previous inspection in 2004.

Parents believe the school does a good job, with one quoted as saying: "On the many occasions I've visited the school, whether for parents' evenings or the Christmas fair, I've found the students to be helpful, polite and confident young people."

Head-teacher Sonette Schwartz was praised by staff for being "inspirational", with good leadership and management contributing to the school's success. However, some subject leaders do not focus closely enough on students' achievements, therefore missing out on what needs to be improved.

The sixth form is satisfactory, including in INSPECTION: Brockhill Park was rated as good pupils' personal development, making progress from "relatively low academic starting points".

Some do better in some subjects than in others, leaving overall standards below average when measured against other schools nationally.

Developments such as the election of a student as school president are welcomed and sixth-formers take a leading role in school life.

The "unusual" Young Farmers' Club is given as a good example of the range of extracurricular activities on offer, alongside the specialist dance and drama subjects.

The school also contributes well to the community, for example giving performances and raising funds for charity.

In conclusion, the report recommended that Brockhill Park could improve further through boosting attendance for all age groups, focusing more on students' achievement in certain areas and raising the teaching needs of the sixth form.

Inclusive approach earns accolade

HEALTH and fitness are top of the class for Pent Valley students after their gym was recognised for being open to all.

Pent Valley Leisure Centre, behind the school in Tile Kiln Lane, Cheriton, was a winner at the Inclusive Fitness Awards ceremony in Birmingham.

The outstanding achievement award made it one of only 220 out of 5,700 centres nationally to be recognised as having suitable access for the 27 per cent of its membership who have disabilities.

The centre also took a creative inclusive environments award for the design, procedure, policies and marketing that go into making the centre universally accessible.

Manager Stuart Wise said: "This is a fantastic achievement and recognises the hard work and dedication put in by the team."

"Staff are trained to deal with adapted exercise and the centre was designed to be as inclusive as possible."

The centre's achievement is part of a school commitment to improve standards of health and fitness for its students, which include the opening of a community health clinic on site.

From September, all year seven students new to the school will be offered a free healthy school lunch throughout the year. The aim is to involve the students in a healthy eating lifestyle.

Deputy head is planning to teach you a lesson

TRAINEE and newly-qualified teachers looking to brush up their skills are invited to find out how to improve their lesson plans with a Shepway deputy head.

Susanne Staab, of Folkestone School For Girls, will be leading the Learning To Learn workshop as part of a professional studies training course.

She joined the school in 2000 as head of history, sociology and politics, and joined the leadership team as assistant head in 2005.

In 2007 she was redesignated deputy head. She continues to teach at all levels, as well as leading on teacher training.

The session is today (Wednesday), from 4pm-6pm, and aimed at trainee and newly-qualified teachers in the secondary sector, as well as more experienced colleagues.

Places are limited to 30. Email sstaab@folkestonegirls.kent.sch.uk to reserve a place and to indicate your school and position.

Folkestone businesswoman Gloria O'Donaghue insists we look on the bright side...

It's time to face the music with a geranium in your hat

SO it's here, the year of payback. After a decade of devil-may-care, slam-it-on-the-credit-card, grab-another-consolidation-loan excess, we finally have to face the music.

But should that leave us feeling gloomy? I think not, and here's why. Life is about riding the storms, taking the rough with the smooth and accepting your errors.

And we have been in error. While it's comforting to blame the bankers and politicians, you and I know who the real culprits are.

With our greed for shopping 'til we drop even though we can't afford it, we have created a world so underpinned by debt that the Government is actually considering printing more money.

Oh, I know we had plastic cards and unrealistic loans thrown at us. And we are, after all, only human and easily starstruck by things that glitter. But still, we have to bow our heads and admit that we knew, deep down, that this day would come. But hey, it's not so bad. Finally we get a chance to pull in our horns, buckle down and start sorting out our finances.

No bad thing, really. For me, it means more nights in with the hubby. It means finally being able to say "No" to my daughter's incessant demands for more.

It means that hand-picked daffs from the garden adorn my dining table instead of those fancy lilies I'd grown to see as the norm. And stews and casseroles now bubble on the stove as I revert to proper (and cheaper) cooking from scratch.

I'll mean taking the bus or the train, or using the bicycle instead of the car.

And switching off standby buttons and the lights when I leave a room, or putting on a cardigan instead of turning up the heating.

A bit of make-do and mend is no bad thing. It can be quite enlightening and therapeutic.

We've all just finished the Christmas gorge and look to eating less over the next few weeks as we pat our festive paunches. Well, this is much the same, isn't it? We've been greedy, gobbling, guzzling gluttons. And now it stops.

Don't get me wrong, I do appreciate that for some there is the horror of redundancy, re-possession, disconnection and court action – and I don't mean to be whimsical about that.

But for most of us, homelessness and extreme poverty are not predicted. For the majority, the next few years will be tight and frugal. And, quite frankly, considering how wasteful we've been, a bit of penny-pinching is the kick up the posterior we need and deserve.

I once heard a saying: "Life's all you have, so have it. Stick a geranium in your hat and smile."

And geraniums are free and hats keep you warm. Enough said?

Tickets to The Vitality Show 2009, plus a £50 goodie bag

WANT to find the key to looking and feeling great this year? Then make a date with your girlfriends and head down to The Vitality Show at Earls Court 2, March 26-29, 2009.

Europe's largest health, beauty and wellbeing show is celebrating its 10th birthday this year – which means even more premium names, fabulous experiences and experts.

And for those after a more hands-on approach, this year's show offers even more opportunities than ever before. The Healing Herb Garden and the Health and Nutrition Stage are the perfect stop offs for girls in need of a nutritional boost, while the Zest Fitness Park provides an excuse to put on those trainers and get stuck into a workout session or dance class.

If you're seeking relaxation rather than perspiration, the luxurious surroundings of the Vitality Day Spa with its massages, reflexology and facials will be calling. And after a few treatments, visitors will be able to take advantage of the Nails Inc. bar and hair makeovers and styling tips from the hair salon. Other must-visit experiences include: The Oasis, a calming zone where guests can try out alternative therapies at a fraction of the cost; The Top Sante Anti-Ageing Clinic full of talks from experts on how to look 10 years younger; the Organic Pavilion in association with LoveLula.com, a zone dedicated to certified organic, natural products and the fashionista's favourite Style Theatre plus so much more! KOS Media has teamed up with the Vitality Show to offer five lucky readers a pair of tickets to the show plus the lucky first prize winner drawn will win a Goodie Bag worth £50 (filled with goodies from some of the exhibitors from the Vitality Show) to go with their pair of tickets.

To enter, simply answer the question below and send your entry on a postcard along with your e-mail address (if applicable), name, address, and daytime telephone number to Vitality Show, KOS Media, Apple Barn, Smeeth, Ashford, Kent, TN25 6SR. Closing date is February 27, 2009.

Question: What date is the Vitality Show?

HARRY BENNETT

The chairman of Shepway Writers' Group talks to us about his roots, the air force and American dreams

Q Tell us something about yourself

I was born in the workhouse in Epsom, Surrey, in 1935, so the only possible way for my life to go was up. I don't know who my father was. Some say he was Italian.

At 16 I signed on as a deck-boy on the SS Manistee, a banana boat bound for West Africa. I continued as a merchant mariner until the age of 21. I then served 12 years in the RAF, rising to the rank of sergeant. I was demobbed in 1967 with a wife, three children and precious little else.

Tell us about Shepway Writers' Group

I was always a good writer. As a boy I won two magazine writing competitions, winning six shillings (30 pence) and ten shillings (50 pence) which my father promptly took for beer money. I didn't bother with writing again until I was 58, when my third wife Anhwa – a beautiful and adored Chinese lady – began writing her autobiography and asked me to edit her English. It became a best-seller.

From then, writing has dominated my life. After moving to Folkestone in 1995, I joined Shepway Writers, an all-age group of people who enjoy writing purely for pleasure. Five years ago I was voted in as chairman. If anybody wants to know more about us, phone 01303 256124.

What's life like for you now?

Financially, I'm not far above my workhouse beginnings, but I've had a great life full of adventure with plenty of ups and downs. I have one unfulfilled dream – to tramp America, but at 73, overweight and with dodgy legs, I doubt that it will ever come true. These days I continue working with writers by advising, mentoring and editing.

YOUR LETTERS

Remembering evils of the Holocaust

ON Tuesday, January 27, we will mark Holocaust Memorial Day. Holocaust Memorial Day was established a few years ago to focus on the fact that the Holocaust was a universal catastrophe for humanity.

More than six million people died in the Holocaust, the majority of them Jews, but many others, including gypsies, homosexual people and those judged 'unworthy of life' such as people with learning disabilities and mental illnesses. Even the deaf were not spared – they had to undergo sterilisation.

The commemoration gives us an opportunity not just to mark our respect for the victims of Nazi persecution but also to show our understanding with all those who suffer its consequences.

Genocides and massacres did not stop with the end of the Holocaust in 1945.

Holocaust Memorial Day also provides us with an opportunity to reflect on more recent and ongoing tragedies, for example the genocide in Rwanda, as well as the current suffering in Darfur, as well as in other places in the world where innocent people suffer in civil wars so often because they happen to be in the wrong place.

We have had a connection locally with the tragic events of the Holocaust through people such as John Ullmann, who passed away in 2007.

John was a larger than life personality who contributed so much to the local community over many years.

John came to England as part of the 'Kindertransports'.

From 1937 onwards it had become clear to many Jewish parents that their days were numbered. As the Nazis grew ever more strident in their calls to rid Germany and Austria of all Jews, they encouraged hatred and vandalism, such as the 'Kristallnacht' in 1938 when Jewish businesses were vandalised by hooligans through their windows being smashed – hence the term 'Kristallnacht'.

In 1938 and 1939, parents made desperate efforts to save their children, even if they could not save themselves.

Through the lobbying and work of sympathetic British officials, politicians as well as Jewish organisations, some 10,000 children travelled to Britain on special trains and escaped an almost certain death.

But this all happened in circumstances of grief and trauma. It is not hard to imagine the agony of parents who had to say farewell to their children at the station – often in Berlin or Vienna – in the knowledge that although they would be safe, they would never see them again. We have another local connection with the kindertransports as some of them passed through Dover.

The Nazis did not discriminate in their extermination policies and millions of young people of John's age lost their lives in the Holocaust.

Thousands of young people with learning disabilities or mental health problems who were thought to be 'unworthy of life' disappeared in gas chambers in 'euthanasia' centres, often innocent-looking buildings such as requisitioned stately homes.

In the genocides of recent years, as well as in regions such as Darfur, young people suffer in many ways, for example through being recruited as child soldiers.

Next week in Deal, the town council is organising an exhibition 'Stand Up to Hatred' in the Town Hall, featuring an award-winning exhibition by the artist Michael Winner, as well as displays by students from Castle Community College.

In addition to visits by our local secondary schools, we hope that the exhibition will be supported by all those of us interested in the theme of standing up to hatred.

We travel to Lille or Paris where, we break our journey with an overnight stay at a hotel. Early the next morning we join the TGV to Marseilles, arriving early-to-mid afternoon. From here we have a short transfer to the Orient Queen to start our 10-night cruise.

During the cruise, relax and watch the world go by, enjoy great food and entertainment, and venture ashore at the numerous ports of call. You can also choose from a comprehensive selection of optional shore excursions taking in: Portofino, Pompeii, Athens, Ancient Ephesus, Mount Etna and more.

At the end of the cruise we disembark after breakfast in Marseilles and take the TGV to Lille or Paris where we join the Eurostar to St Pancras, London, arriving early-to-mid evening.

INCLUDED: Escorted from London • Return Eurostar & TGV to Marseilles • 1 night in Lille or Paris • 10-night cruise aboard the Orient Queen - based on 2 people sharing a standard inside cabin (outside cabin from £1,159pp; sole occupancy cabin from £1,199pp) • All meals on board (breakfast, lunch, afternoon tea & dinner each day) • Entertainment on board

Bin charges are just another stealth tax

At the end of November 2008, laws which allow the Government to impose new charges for household rubbish collections received Royal Assent. Ministers have confirmed the Office of National Statistics will classify these new charges as a tax.

Although bin taxes will be trialled in a series of so-called pilots, the small print of the legislation allows the Secretary of State to roll out and impose the taxes on all local authorities by Order, without any vote in Parliament.

Everyone will lose out, whether they recycle or not. Families with children will be hit hardest, to the tune of more than £72 a year on top of council tax. It is just a blatant case of double taxation.

The environment will suffer as people will be encouraged to fly-tip, burn rubbish and drive to dumps, adding to congestion and carbon emissions, in an effort to save money.

As the recent Manchester congestion charge referendum showed, voters do not want to pay new stealth taxes at a time when millions face losing their jobs. This is just another cynical Labour attempt to tax families.

This latest round of stealth taxation will push up the cost of living to breaking point. We need to stand up to this government and ban the bin tax.

Cllr Julie Rook

Rail freight answer to HGV congestion

Despite a yearly increase of 7.8 per cent in HGVs moving through Kent, the Government plans freight charges for Eurostar trains of almost 500 per cent more than those on normal Network Rail.

We need to reduce the number of heavy lorries travelling through Kent, not encourage more of them.

Increasing rail freight is an option we must use to achieve this, but plans for such a huge increase for freight travelling on Kent's high-speed lines may see a fall in rail freight, not an increase.

Reasonable prices and increased investment are vital if this is to be avoided, but the Government is acting as if it thinks more traffic congestion and air pollution are good!

Dr Hazel Dawe
Chairwoman of Kent Green Party

Is Morris dancing still a worthy pastime?

So the future of Morris dancing is in doubt, according to the report in last week's paper.

Surely the practice of dressing in ridiculous costumes, striking one another with a wooden stick and rotating round in ever-increasing circles is worth preserving?

Or maybe not.

Racist football fans abused their own

I was interested to read the article on Clyde Best, one of the first black footballers to achieve prominence.

He came through at a time when football crowds were distinctly unpleasant and racist behaviour which is now highlighted as unusual was very much the norm.

I was pleased to read Clyde had been honoured with an MBE and recognised for his pioneering work by fellow professionals.

It couldn't have been easy for him to cop with the abuse and general intolerance of crowds in the 1970s

I watched him play once and was sickened by the abuse he received – mainly at the hands of his own so-called West Ham supporters.

Brace yourselves for the next instalment of SMF

FESTIVAL fans rejoice – the new-and-improved Sellindge Music Festival is but 141 days away.

Through the wonders of the World Wide Web I have been informed that the mid-Kent event is coming back for its second year.

In the quest for more information a Facebook group set up to spread the joyous news of Sellindge Music Festival 2009 sent me clicking and double clicking all the way to Myspace and eventually brought me to the dedicated SMF 09 website.

All of this means I am now in a position to confirm the following:

Sellindge Music Festival will take place across three days from Friday, June 5, to Sunday, June 7, giving festival fans an extra day's music to enjoy on last year's offering.

Organisers have launched their very own battle of the bands competition to fill two slots on the main stage's bill. Heats will take place at The Frenchman in Christchurch Road, Folkestone, on Thursday, January 22, and Thursday, February 12. For more information send an e-mail with links to your music to ben@sellindgemusicfestival.co.uk.

Festival promoters are already excited by SMF 2009. On the event's Facebook page Benjamin Wells wrote: "Kent's most exciting music event will be taking place on three days in June in the beautiful countryside between Ashford and Folkestone.

"The weekend will see artists perform in multiple event areas, including the Main Stage, Acoustic Stage, Comedy Tent, and Dance Tent.

"BBC Kent Introducing will also be showcasing the county's most up and coming bands, alongside NorthSouthDivide, who are bringing the freshest talent from London and Manchester to Sellindge.

"SMF can accommodate over 20,000 festival-goers, who will see performances from more than 100 artists and DJs, be able to browse the many trade-stalls, enjoy the rides in the fairground, helicopter tours, and check out the art exhibition put on by the Folkestone Artists Cooperative."

Last year's inaugural SMF event saw the likes of Scottish rockers Idlewild, The Hair, Sy Arthur and The Bluetones' Mark Morriss take to the stage.

The festival also boasted a main, folk, dance and BBC Introducing stage bursting with the best talent from Kent and further afield.

Wells Clinic

CHECK out our special promotion throughout the remainder of the month and February to help those who want to look and feel their best – and banish the winter blues.

Treatments available at the Wells Clinic include Juvederm Ultra, restalyne, skin peels, laser skin treatments and wrinkle fillers.

Plus experts offer the removal of skin tags, moles, thread veins, sun spots, age spots, cysts and eye bags.

Recent advances in non-invasive cosmetic surgery are also offered to give customers that youthful self assurance which comes from looking at their best.

Wrinkle fillers are an excellent way of improving the look of skin resulting in a more youthful appearance.

The clinic has three unique treatments, Portrait, Titan and Smooth Light which can all help to achieve this.

Wells Clinic provides a vast range of treatments which help people to achieve their full potential.

They also have a vast range of treatments which are unavailable elsewhere, with the word of mouth recommendations spread by satisfied customers just one way that more and more people who want to look and feel their best end up passing through the clinic's doors.

The clinic's slogan – which it really does live up to – says it all: "Our aim is making people feel good about themselves – making people happier".

Comedian's a class act

International star
Ed Byrne's taking a tour through a town near you

ED BYRNE

Various dates
Tunbridge Wells, Dartford, Chatham

IRISHMAN Ed Byrne seems to be an unstoppable force in the world of stand-up comedy.

The likeable funny man has added 60 extra dates to his Different Class tour, after his autumn gigs fully sold out. His show was the fastest selling ticket at last year's Edinburgh Fringe Festival and demand for his comedy has continued to snowball.

Fans will have to move fast if they want to get hold of tickets for his Kent dates. One of his two nights at Tunbridge Wells' Trinity Theatre had already sold out at the time of writing, while the other was selling fast. Tickets for his gigs at other venues will be snapped up before too long, so do not waste time if you want to see this master at work.

The Perrier Award-nominated comic, who used to sport a long ponytail, is a prolific performer and a favourite at the Edinburgh Fringe. In 2007, his Standing Up and Falling Down tour was also a sell-out success, delighting audiences all over the country.

The floppy-haired Irishman, 36, is also a big hit in other countries, having taken the last tour to Australia and New Zealand. He has given acclaimed performances at comedy festivals and clubs in Montreal, Paris, Singapore, Belgium, Australia, New Zealand, Los Angeles, New York and Aspen. American television viewers have embraced his style of comedy – he has been invited to appear on popular talk show Late Night With Conan O'Brien five times.

Byrne's UK television work includes numerous memorable appearances on panel shows such as Mock The Week, 8 Out of 10 Cats, Never Mind The Buzzcocks and

FUNNY: Tickets are selling fast to see Ed Byrne when he comes to Kent during his tour

Have I Got News For You. He has hosted his own series, Ed Byrne's Just For Laughs, on Irish national channel RTE and is the voice of the Carphone Warehouse commercials.

His talents are not restricted to stand-up and voice-overs. Byrne has branched out into acting, both comic and straight, landing key roles in a number of TV shows, films and stage productions. He has appeared in the films RAT, I Could Never Be Your Woman and Are You Ready For Love and played the lead character in Jason Rothwell's Zemanovaload, portraying an obsessive screenwriter.

Byrne won a role in a Father Ted Christmas special, playing a grungy teenager, and appeared as Davina McCall's flatmate Alex in the ITV sitcom Sam's Game. Fans of the daytime TV series Doctors will have spotted Byrne playing wheeler dealer Mickey Moran. As a stage actor, Byrne played the lead role in a 2004 production of Brian McAvera's Kings Of The Road.

His recent marriage has provided plenty of material for Different Class, which focuses on Byrne's claim that he is unable to fit in with any class of people.

Ed Byrne will be at Trinity Theatre, Tunbridge Wells, on Friday, February 6; Orchard Theatre, Dartford, on Saturday, February 21, and Central Theatre, Chatham, on Sunday, April 5.

THE BEST BLUES BROTHERS SHOW... EVER!

Thursday, February 5
Leas Cliff Hall, Folkestone

GET your hats, shades and dancing shoes ready for the Blues Brothers!

With their powerhouse performances and fantastic portrayal of the iconic brothers, Jake and Elwood have taken audiences by storm all over the world, backed by their award-winning Black Rhino Band.

Such is their dedication, the two performers changed their names to Jake and Elwood by Deed Poll.

Their uncanny grasp of the Blues Brothers' personas has won fans both young and old, along with the esteem of other artists – they have even performed with The Original Blues Brothers Band and Gary Moore.

Billed as a 'world-class musical extravaganza', The Best Blues Brothers Show... EVER! features all the songs such as Everybody Needs Somebody, Gimme Some Lovin and Sweet Home Chicago.

The show starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £21.50.

Call the box office on 0844 847 1776, or book online at www.leascliffhall.org.uk.

SUPERABUNDANT

Saturday, January 24, to Sunday, March 22
Turner Contemporary Project Space and Drot House, Margate

THE power of pattern is celebrated in Superabundant, an exhibition that makes a riot of repetition.

Nine artists have embraced the idea of patterns in very different ways to create a sense of joy and delight. Some of these pieces are new or site specific, having been created especially for the Turner Contemporary Project Space.

Using traditional wood-block printing techniques, Richard Woods has transformed the exterior of the Project Space into a strikingly colourful facade, while inside he has created the illusion of three dimensional depth on the floor. Jacqui Poncelet has wrapped internal pillars with complex patterns on paper showing figures falling through space, while Paul Moss's Danger Paintings are created by painstakingly wrapping tape around a frame. Jacob Dahlgren uses mass-produced objects, such as bathroom scales (pictured) to make playful sculptures, while Wim Delvoye has fashioned pieces of cold meats into an Arabic-style floor.

Lesley Halliwell, Henna Nadeem and Daniel Sturgis have also given their fascinating take on the theme.

For details see www.turnercontemporary.org.

THE WILDERS

Monday, January 26
Zebra Bar, Maidstone

BEAT the winter blues with the infectious, good-time music of true country band The Wilders.

Acclaimed as a 'must see' band, The Wilders leave audiences both delighted and exhausted in their wake. Giving old-time country bluegrass tunes a contemporary edge, the highly charged act promises audiences a fun-packed evening of great music and humour.

The buzz surrounding the band from Kansas City has been huge since they first toured the UK in 2006. Their Edinburgh Festival debut earned five star reviews and there was soon standing room only, their blend of roots-of-country, bluegrass and hillbilly music winning over audiences and critics alike. Led by guitarist, singer and wisecracker Ike Sheldon, the band also includes multi-award-winning fiddler Betse Ellis. Nate Gawron's slap bass lines revisit the honky tonk heroes of the 40s and 50s.

With Dobro on clawhammer banjo and Phil Wade on mandolin, they create a sound that will drive away the January blues. The London-based AHAB is also on the bill.

The gig starts at 8pm and tickets cost £10 in advance or £12 on the door. To book, phone 01622 744481.

Welcome to KOS Media's guide to beating the crunch

So 2008 was the year when the UK faced up to a financial reality check.

Soaring house prices led to massive mortgages which many people couldn't really afford.

With many banks and building societies actively encouraging people to borrow even more, the bubble was bound to burst – and it did, big time.

That would have been bad enough on its own, but the debt dominoes and the house of credit cards fell just as we were entering an economic downturn which was part of the global commercial cycle of ups and downs.

On its own, the downturn would have probably not been too bad (we'll never really know, of course), but with the borrowing binge hangover what would have been a bad cold in the City turned into a vicious bout of financial 'flu' which affected just about everyone.

But 2009 is another year, another new start.

So let's all try and fight back against the credit squeeze, and make some resolutions about CCCs – climate change changes.

Here KOS Media writers have gathered some topical tips and advice about how to cope.

We have looked at everything from making a household budget to ideas for cheap holidays, and advice for businesses from experts to how to make your motoring money go that little bit further.

And we have also prepared a series of videos giving practical advice on how to save cash, so join our presenter Julie Maddocks at yourkenttv.co.uk.

How you can save money – just click on vouchersforkent.co.uk

TO TRY and help all our readers through credit crunch KOS Media – the publisher of this newspaper – has joined forces with businesses across our county to come up with some very special deals, discounts and offers.

Getting these offers really couldn't be easier – simply log onto vouchersforkent.co.uk and you can start saving money today.

Using our unique and easy-to-use page turning e-edition you can browse through the online voucher books to find the offers you want to take advantage of.

There are three different voucher books – leisure, food and drink; retail trade and services; and motors and servicing.

To save money, simply print out the voucher you want and take it to the business offering the deal.

There are fantastic range of bargains on offer – from cheap nights out to beat the credit crunch blues, to money-saving deals on home improvements.

There are no limits on the number of vouchers from the booklet you can use, so there are loads of opportunities to save money and reduce your shopping bill.

But please take note to read the terms and conditions on each voucher carefully – not all the offers last forever and have to be used by a certain date.

We wouldn't want you to be disappointed by missing out on any bargains you want.

To get a taste of some of the deals available online, see the lists of offers included on the pages of your special Beat The Crunch supplement.

Don't buy into store tactics

Read this and you really will save cash at the supermarket

By JEFFREY STRAIN

BY far the best way to truly keep your supermarket shopping expenses under control is by understanding how supermarkets entice you to spend more than you really want.

Here are some ways that supermarkets manipulate you into spending more than you had planned and some simple steps you can take to save money.

Supermarkets intentionally smell of freshly-baked goods. That makes you hungry. Hungry shoppers spend more cash. Fact.

So, only go shopping after you have had a meal and are full. If timing doesn't allow for you to do this, at least drink a couple of glasses of water before leaving to make you feel full before shopping.

Did you ever notice that when you only need to buy a few vital items, they are spread out across the supermarket? Putting basic staple items in the same general area would make happier customers, but supermarkets know that the longer you are there, the more money you are likely to spend. Stores are deliberately designed this way.

Although there is no way around going to the far corners of the store to get the groceries you need avoid impulse purchases.

Make a list of the items you need and stick to it. Get into the habit of making a single trip once a week – thus reducing your time in the store and the risk of impulse buys.

Manufacturers of brand-named products pay hefty fees to stores to have their merchandise placed on the shelves at adult eye level (and child eye level in the case of products aimed at children such as cereal).

That means products placed at eye level are usually the most expensive so take a few seconds to look at the upper and lower shelves. Similar products are placed together and simply looking will often reveal the same product at a much better price.

Take the time to check the other brands and see if there is a better deal.

And always remember that if you weren't planning to buy the item and you don't really need it, then it really isn't a bargain for you, no matter what the price.

The checkout aisle of a store is like a mini mart in itself. This is because supermarkets know that they have a captive audience while you wait in line to pay for your groceries.

The best way to avoid these temptations is to plan your shopping during off-peak hours.

By taking the time to understand how the supermarkets try to influence your shopping and spending habits, you have now put yourself in control. Utilise the suggestions about how to counter the supermarkets' selling techniques and you will be able to control your grocery spending to a much greater extent and should have a much easier time keeping to your monthly food budget.

OFF YOUR TROLLEY: Don't buy things you don't really need, always take a list shopping

Top tips to save while supermarket shopping

- In addition to using coupons, try to buy only the "loss leader" specials (those big sales advertised in the newspaper ad). Buy lots of these items and freeze or store for the future.
- Did you know that you can freeze milk? Use frozen milk within three months. Remember to pour a little of the milk out (into another jug) before you freeze it, so that it doesn't expand and burst the plastic jug. It will look yellow when frozen, but will thaw out and look normal. It saves on trips to the supermarket.
- Plan ahead on your meals. For instance, Mondays: chicken, Tuesdays: minced beef, etc. Add rice, vegetables, pasta or potatoes for the side dishes. When you break it down you have for example chicken, four times a month so there is no boredom.
- For those money-saving big shops, keep two or three laundry baskets in the back of the car. Cheaper than buying another 'bag for life' and saves plastic bags.
- Buy meat when it's in the "reduced" section when the "sell-by" date is that day or one day away. Freeze when you get home.
- If you want to make saving cash fun and you like to cook, scan through my favourite cookbooks and plan out an entire month's menu in advance. One mum who does this said: "I make an inventory of the food I do have and then make a list of what I need to go on one big grocery shopping excursion. This minimizes the amount of trips I need to make in a month, thus saving me on my grocery budget. I only need to go every other week for milk, fruit and deli meat."

Don't let the credit crunch bite you

STRESSED OUT: Don't let financial worries make you ill, take measures to stay relaxed

INCREASING bills, shrinking credit and gloomy forecasts that financially life can only get worse are fast becoming the ingredients of a toxic cocktail that threatens the nation's health.

Headaches, nausea, sleeplessness and exhaustion are thought to be just a few of the symptoms of today's most topical medical condition, Credit Crunch Stress.

Already there are reports of increased levels of depression and tension headaches, not to mention health problems associated with economising, like skipping meals, cancelling gym memberships and drowning sorrows with alcohol.

Recently, 39-year-old postman Duncan Wilby from Yorkshire became one of the early fatalities of the current economic crisis. It was reported that, apparently troubled by financial problems, he took his own life.

Dr Nick Read, a physician and psychotherapist who specialises in stress-related conditions is just one expert predicting the medical profession may soon see a surge in illness caused by money worries.

He says: "The current situation with growing financial uncertainty and anxiety about the future is bound to impact on people's health. Many will feel overwhelmed and worried that they can't cope.

"So doctors may well see more and more people exhibiting symptoms which are triggered by stress such as back pain, breathlessness, muscular tensions, and gut complaints.

"Stress also exacerbates existing illnesses like eczema, asthma, arthritis and migraines."

He estimates that currently around 50 per cent of patients visiting doctors have illnesses which cannot be diagnosed or properly treated but whose origin is stress.

Stress hormones have a range of damaging effects on the body. Adrenalin increases inflammation, makes pain worse and ties the guts in knots. Cortisol raises blood sugar and blood pressure, makes infections worse and induces obesity and exhaustion.

Sleep deprivation caused by money worries is already, according to research, affecting those in particularly vulnerable professions – estate agents, lorry drivers and taxi drivers.

They are enjoying less sleep – only at best six hours a night – than those in other professions and trades, found a survey by Travelodge.

Its findings are backed by new research by sleep aid, Sominex, which discovered that a third of those it surveyed had disturbed nights because of money worries and a further third toss and turn over job worries.

Dr Wendy Denning, director of an integrated health centre in London points out: "Although our physical welfare has a massive impact on how we feel and behave, ironically it's often neglected in times of stress.

"Even simple things can help. For instance when we're stressed we breathe less efficiently and take more shallow breaths, which doesn't get enough oxygen to our brain and body. Deep breathing exercises could improve that."

Soothing sleep

Dr Denning's advice is, don't work until you're literally too tired to do any more as you'll be too exhausted to switch off sufficiently to rest, and avoid watching television late at night as it stimulates the brain.

Sex and the City

Scottish scientists reportedly found that sex isn't just an effective stress reliever for a short time – but that the benefits of one session helped to keep stress at bay for up to a week.

Unfortunately anxiety and stress is known to reduce libido. Dr Denning says: 'Relaxation techniques can help, but talk about any problems with your partner or seek advice from a specialist.'

Don't panic

Panic attacks may be a symptom of stress and anxiety. These can last for a brief period of around 15 minutes and feature a range of symptoms including dizziness, nausea, sweating and a racing heart.

Among the treatments which can be recommended by a GP is Cognitive Behavioural Therapy (CBT), which involves weekly sessions where the sufferer talks to a therapist. There are also self-help tips, including breathing techniques.

Beat the blues

Low mood as well as feeling more irritable, forgetful, and finding it harder to concentrate can all be symptoms of stress, says Dr Denning.

She recommends a multi-vitamin and mineral supplement to boost the body as stress may deplete levels of key vitamins like B and C, and magnesium and zinc.

Face reality

Fear of what may happen in the future is a major factor in raising stress levels, according to Richard Hilliard, director of the Relaxation for Living Institute.

He said: "Make a plan. Bridge the gap between where you are now and where you want to be by creating actions that move you towards your goal. Feel good about yourself when you achieve even small steps and try to appreciate the positive things in your life."

Stop burning your money

Changing energy suppliers is a lot easier than you think

CHANGING energy suppliers has received a lot of bad press over the years.

Tales of unscrupulous door-to-door salesmen signing you up without your knowledge and the myths which surround the actual process have made many steer clear.

Yet the reality is, the process should be quick, simple and save you potentially hundreds of pounds during the course of the year.

Firstly, let's dispel the biggest myth of them all. Changing supplier will involve no new pipes, and no hassle.

From your point of view the only difference will be a different company's name appearing at the top of your monthly bill – and less money leaving your bank account.

All you have to do is identify who you want to supply you with energy and notify them and settle up with your current supplier. There will be no break in your supply and all existing equipment will remain the same.

But crucially, do your research – and don't be hassled by a salesman either on the phone or your doorstep if you don't feel comfortable. Remember, it's your business they want and you're in control of who you give it to. If you're not sure, or are getting confused, simply tell them you'll think about it and thank them for their time. Sign nothing unless you are certain you want to change supplier.

By CHRIS BRITCHER

Special offers

Fortunately, with the internet it has never been easier to compare the price of gas and electricity, find out the reputation of companies and hear of problems other customers have had.

Suppliers frequently have online special offers too – cutting prices further simply by switching to an account you monitor via the web.

Independent comparison websites such as uSwitch.com and Moneysupermarket.com are particularly useful. At the click of a mouse

HOT TIP: Find the cheapest energy prices online using a comparison website they can guide you to the best prices so you can make your own decision.

Scott Byrom, is utilities manager at Moneysupermarket.com. He explained: "Energy bills are well over the £1,000 mark and while the energy giants may cut prices in the coming weeks, changing to a cheaper tariff is something I highly recommend.

"With so many people needing to tighten their purse strings, a saving of almost £1,800 on average could make all the difference. Changing to an online tariff also gives consumers the opportunity to keep track of their payments and have a clearer idea of their balance by managing their account online. As well as swapping from standard to online, changing payment method to monthly direct debit will also guarantee savings."

But you may not even need to change suppliers to achieve noticeable and useful savings. Speak to your current supplier and discuss with them your usage. It is possible simply switching to a different tariff could save you pounds.

For some it's only a small downturn

SMEs can be adaptable in rapidly changing markets

SMALL is beautiful was a big catchphrase a few decades ago, but it's certainly come into its own since our economy has taken a downturn.

What are referred to as SMEs (small and medium sized enterprises) often have the agility to react more swiftly to rapidly-changing market conditions than large corporations – rather like how tiny mammals survived when lumbering dinosaurs perished millions of years ago.

In a downturn markets shrink and anyone forking out cash wants value for money. So firms have to work smarter, not just faster. Creative bosses will be asking staff for ideas which could work for the whole team's benefit.

Also, many outfits think that shedding staff can be a good way of cutting costs – it can be, but it's first got to be thought out very carefully.

'Last in, first out' doesn't work any more when you're considering making redundancies because that could land you with an expensive claim for discrimination.

By TONY PATEY

Simon Morgan of Dartford-based HR Dept warns that redundancy is never an easy option, and it needs to be handled properly if it is going to make a positive, rather than negative, impact on your business.

"Many SMEs use redundancy as a way of dealing with a poor performer but this is the surest way to make the dismissal unfair.

"How you choose who to lose when there is more than one person doing the same role has to be decided by an objective selection criteria and consulting with all staff affected at every stage of the proceedings.

"In addition to completing the redundancy process on the right side of the law, you need to think about the rest of your workforce.

"Being left with a smaller team who may be anxious about their own job security or, even worse, who harbour ill-feeling towards senior management, may negate the positive effects you were hoping for with a smaller, more tightly knit team."

When it comes to finance there's little real helpful advice to give. It depends on each individual firm now, because the banks have drawn in their horns and treat any loan or overdraft request with a beady eye.

But, every bank has stressed to me that firms which have been good customers in the past and come up with good business plans or ideas will get a fair hearing – and stories I've done recently in the Business section of Saturday Observer and Kent on Sunday have backed up this claim.

Now's a good time for firms to check out leases and rentals on properties – to see if it's possible to negotiate any new terms.

It's a buyers' market in commercial property at the moment, so companies seeking new premises should be able to work out some very favourable deals.

AS OUR bank balances are squeezed by the credit crunch, some financial experts suggest turning to the internet to make the pennies stretch further.

The savings that can be found online could make the read-out on the ATM screen that little bit more bearable... if you are computersavvy enough to hunt them down.

While the large supermarket chains find more and more ways to reduce the retail price of their stock, web stores have also had to offer great deals to keep customers spending.

The obvious places to start are the price comparison sites, of which there are many.

The cheapest possible charges on everything from car insurance to Nintendo Wiis can be found on sites such as moneysupermarket.com and kelkoo.co.uk.

The process can be time-consuming, but is worthwhile as huge savings can be made.

Talking to people around the county, the message was clear.

Matthew Bates, 33, from Whitstable said: "I brought a new iPod 8GB Nano with my Christmas money on the net, and used Kelkoo to find it.

"What would have cost me more than £100 on the high street cost £84 on the net."

So much for luxuries, but with winter doing

its worst, the cost of your energy bills is worth looking at.

Click on energyhelpline.com or uswitch.com to set about making pound-saving changes.

Lorraine Pattola, 27, from Westgate-on-Sea, found that by switching energy supplier via the web, she saved more than £50 on her last bill.

She said: "I thought our bills from EDF were outrageous, so I used the web to shop around for a new supplier. My housemates appreciated it, too. I haven't made a cup of tea in weeks!"

And with the cost of mobile phones burning a hole in people's pockets, communicating with your friends can also be made cheaper.

Samuel Clarke from Herne Bay is 28 and has just bought his first home in the town.

Accordingly, he has had to curtail his spending dramatically.

Despite having a love of gadgets and technology, he switched to a pay-as-you-go mobile and increasingly used the internet to make contact with friends.

He said: "I use email much more now and I even joined Facebook, which I once vowed I'd never do. It has saved me money on things like texting and my phone bill has come down by around £15 a month."

Saving money on your groceries by shopping online is also easier than it looks.

The running total counters keep track of what you are spending and help to curtail impulse buys.

The dreaded delivery charge has come down, too, with retailers like Tesco now charging just £1.75 for midweek drops – and you don't spend money on petrol driving to the store.

If you're prepared to swallow your pride and buy second-hand, eBay also comes into its own as a cash-saving resource.

Books, CDs and DVDs, and pretty much everything else, are a steal if you are prepared to play the waiting game until the goods arrive.

One trick is to buy cheap films from shops like WH Smith, which often sell for as little as £3, and sell them on at roughly the same price.

A film for free, unlike renting from a store!

PEOPLE PERSON: Director Tara Lloyd

SMALL businesses struggling to maintain their cash flow in the economic downturn should make sure they properly manage all of their people costs.

Ashford-based people management expert Calibre HR & Training said there are often opportunities for improving staffing efficiencies, but too few small businesses have the necessary understanding of the whole staffing picture – and so aren't well placed to secure cost savings.

Director Tara Lloyd said: "The wages bill is one of the largest financial commitments for any business. When times are tough businesses of all sizes need to know where and when costs will be incurred.

"However, small businesses routinely overlook some people costs and fail to have a proper grip on the full cost implications of their decisions. And the consequences can be catastrophic."

Businesses need to know both their total committed staff costs – including overlooked items such as cover for holidays and other absences, bonuses and deferred pay rises – as well as what flexibility they have to revamp operations to match demand.

Said Ms Lloyd: "For ultimate flexibility, employers need to understand the employment status of every staff member and the terms of engagement of contractors and agency staff."

By TOM BETTS

In addition, Ms Lloyd says people costs are often underestimated at both ends of the employment relationship.

"It can be easy to assume recruitment costs will be nil during a recession, but people continue to move jobs and if you are aiming to counter the effects of the downturn you should be taking advantage of the new talent on the market.

"So look closely at your recruitment methods to ensure the best value for money. Similarly, businesses planning to reduce or restructure the workforce need a proper understanding of redundancy costs and the role of professional support in managing the process professionally and avoiding litigation."

HR financial planning – what to include:

- All wage costs
- Cover for holidays and other absences
- Benefits – cars, food subsidies, life assurance, pensions, health cover, staff discounts and private health insurance, etc
- Pay rises and bonuses (including deferred)
- Recruitment costs
- Training
- Unclaimed Statutory Sick Pay
- Redundancy payments
- Professional HR support

COST will probably play the biggest part in holiday planning for most people this year – and New Year offers in the travel shops will be scanned carefully.

Looking at what has happened in the rest of the retail sector over the last couple of months, I think we can take major discounts as a given.

But it'll be worth checking out if they really are bargains or just face-value savings covering lots of extra charges. Or dodgy accommodation. Or travelling in the middle of the night from Rocky Horror Airport.

Deals

Of course, people will be using the internet if they can access it. But think about your nearest travel agents' – they employ locals who are trying to make ends meet like the rest of us, and when the good times come back you'll be glad they're still around.

If the assistants have been through the courses for travel agents, and I'm sure most have if they're on the front desks, they'll be able to work out the very best deals and travel routes.

With the weak pound, going foreign may not be the best idea this year; there are, after all, plenty of good holiday spots in the UK and southern Ireland, and there are bound to be opportunities for negotiating a cost-effective deal.

Even if a hotel or guest houses is not advertising a discount or offer, such as for a family, it's worth asking – they'll probably come up with a decent deal.

When my family was young I took them to the really beautiful parts of Britain – for example, Exmoor, the Peak District, the Isle of Mull, Wales – because I wanted them to

Take a holiday from the credit crunch

PEAK TIMES: Saving money on holidays is an excuse to re-discover what's on our doorstep know what was on their doorstep before they jetted off abroad when older.

In fact, even now my wife and I would much prefer a walking holiday from a small, family-run hotel or guest house in say, Rutland, than spend a couple of days tearing out our hair at an airport – which wipes out any benefit from a holiday overseas, anyway.

Rail and coach services are definitely worth looking at – apart from saving carbon-miles you can put up your feet with a book, newspaper or just snooze, and teenagers – and the not so young – aren't as selfish as they used to be with noisy headphones.

If you're really aiming to cut costs, or just want to rough it, camping can be either extremely comfortable or just extreme; caravans are also a good option because you can move around, but you have to pick sites carefully to get facilities you want.

B&Bs have really come on, and not just because of the fire, health and safety rules and regulations they have to satisfy.

A lot are now run by people who have taken early retirement from good jobs, or have got a good redundancy payout, and they give the kind of service they'd expect if they were on a break. And breakfast is usually extremely good.

Self-catering has never been on my holiday agenda, but other members of my family say it's fine if there are just one, two or three – it can be a bit time-consuming if there're more.

If you're young, check out any bus service deals you can get, such as special passes, because if you can get A to B on public transport, cheap or free, it's worth it. Also, if you're 60 or over, don't forget to apply for bus and rail passes.

If you're really worried about expense, why not just stay at home?

What's wrong with watching videos you like, listening to music, catching up on reading and then going out for a good evening meal and drink (you're not splashing out for anything else, let's face it)?

And Kent, of course, can offer fantastic landscapes and days out for all the family.

Use the car only if you have to, and check out public transport links – all right, you can't get everywhere, but you'll be surprised where you can go, and timings are now very good.

Reducing your carbon footprint and your bills

WE can all make changes at work and at home which will help reduce our carbon footprints – and save us money during the credit crunch.

There's lots that can be done, and a main focus is climate change, which is highlighted in a new report from the Kent branch of the Campaign to Protect Rural England, which is the only organisation seeking to protect the countryside as a whole.

It's called 'Tomorrow's Kent', and is available on CPRE Kent's website, and shows how climate change will affect our county and what steps we can take.

Loans

A rapidly growing number of homeowners are now taking advantage of local council loans and government grants to install solar panels, wind turbines and other microgeneration technologies in their homes.

You may initially feel a large-scale renovation project in your home may seem uneconomical, but renewable energy technologies such as wood burners that provide heating and hot water, or solar water heating panels, will pay for themselves in the long term.

While oil prices may have come down for the moment, everything suggests that high heating costs are here to stay, unless we look for alternatives.

BY GEMMA WATTS

There are many other practical steps you can take to reduce the amount of energy you use in your home. By simply replacing old lightbulbs with energy saving ones you can reduce your energy costs.

If your boiler is more than 10 years old then think seriously about getting a new, more efficient one. It should keep you warmer for a lot less money.

Improving the insulation of your home doesn't have the 'eco-bling' attraction of a solar panel or a wind turbine, but it can save you money, and reduce your carbon footprint, far more effectively.

For impartial advice on what is available in your area and what you can do, contact the Energy Savings Trust (www.energysavingtrust.org.uk or phone 0800 512 012).

CPRE Kent is holding an 'Alternative Energy Event' in Tunbridge Wells on January 24. There will be a range of speakers giving presentations on how alternative energy can work with protecting the countryside, listed buildings and conservation areas.

For more information visit the website www.cprekent.org.uk or call 01303 815180.

Take action now to protect Kent from climate change and start saving on your bills.

IT USED to be dig for victory, but now we could say it's dig for survival...

Growing your own vegetables and generally shopping sensibly can save a lot of money. So rather than just cruising supermarket aisles picking up whatever takes your fancy, and getting a shock at the check-out, plan your campaign.

Part of that attack could be just growing your own herbs and some vegetables – or even getting an allotment for a bigger crop – and also making sure you spot the food and drink bargains in a variety of stores, from the biggies to cornershops.

For example, try and buy large bags of onions or potatoes rather than smaller amounts; you'll find that if they're kept in a cool, dry, shaded place they'll last ages.

Also, cultivate your local butcher. If you're a regular customer, you could, for example, ask for a 'bargain pack' of meat if you give them say £30 or £40 cash. Again, it'll save in the long run and last ages – and it'll stock up your freezer.

Plan meals

Plan meals a week ahead, and shop just for the items you need – that way, no food will go to waste and you'll be less tempted by unnecessary bits.

At the supermarket go for the 'own brands' – which are often just a difference in packaging, and a lot cheaper.

Budget supermarkets such as Lidl also do an incredible range of fruit juices, including pear and peach, which are extremely healthy, cheap and long dated. They're usually packed with vitamin C and very tasty.

Taking sandwiches and some fruit for lunch at work will save pounds each week, and you won't be tempted by fast food or cream cakes. Drink water instead of expensive and calorie-packed fizzies.

Use up leftovers – for example, vegetables can be used as a 'bubble and squeak' the next day, and meat can be used for sandwiches.

And if you make things like lasagne, stew

VEGGIE FEAST: Growing your own food and shopping sensibly can help your finances

Healthy ways to save allot of cash

and shepherd's pie, make much more than you need so you can then freeze small portions for the future.

Finally, try and grow your own vegetables. Not only will it keep you fit, but the taste of something you have grown yourself is very satisfying.

If you're new to gardening, get some how-to books from the local library – you'll find loads on the shelves – and the weekly gardening magazines carry masses of topical tips and suggestions.

Cultivating anything from a small patch in your back garden to a full-scale allotment will give you an extremely worthwhile hobby which will certainly stay with you even when the recession becomes a memory.

This time of year, you'll find bargains and big discounts in garden centres for a whole range of gardening items, from mowers to gloves.

ing bill, which would save us roughly 20 per cent per month on our electricity bill.

We also made sure to cap its temperature at 60C, so as not to overheat the water and suffer the economic consequences later.

Radiators

Many of the radiators in the house are placed under windows, for instance in the kitchen, bathroom and some bedrooms, meaning that up to 70 per cent of the heat is lost straight through the glass above or through the outside wall.

"This can be corrected by installing a shelf above the radiator, which will block the heat from escaping up through the window," Donnachadh explained.

"By installing a reflector panel, you'll reflect the heat into the room rather than leak it into the wall behind it."

We've found that it also helps to draw the curtains at night, which none of us had paid much attention to. By turning rooms into small boxes, and ensuring the curtains are drawn, doors closed and radiators turned on, our house has become a hodgepodge of warm rooms, rather than an airy hallway whereby one can wander in and out of spaces that are, as a result, freezing cold.

Fireplaces

Our next stop was to take a look at the fireplaces. Donnachadh reckons that up to 15 per cent of the central heating in a room can be lost up an unsealed fireplace.

Our house might boast five gorgeous fireplaces, but they certainly make a room cold.

After investing in a chimney balloon, which set me back £19.99, my room became five degrees warmer and there was no longer a draught between the chimney and the door to my room.

Doors

Donnachadh said: "Take a look at your front door," he said ominously, stepping over the threshold.

He pointed out a draughty letterbox, which was letting cold air into our hallway day and night. "Most people don't realise the effect of draught in a door frame like this."

"Get yourself some strip insulation and a

Heating

It has charm, but our house is also large, draughty and badly insulated. While we might be slightly ahead of the rest of Britain by subscribing to a green electricity tariff, we've still been using way too much of it.

I discovered that by replacing the boiler with a newer model we could save around 20 per cent on our gas bills and keep the house heated more efficiently.

But the possibility of my landlord buying us a whole new one was low, so Donnachadh talked instead about how we were actually using the boiler.

Our boiler is set on a timer, with separate controls for the central heating and hot water. But we still had the hot water on longer than we needed it – we were able to shave off three hours per day from our heat-

the expert to go green

draught-proof letter box, and your hallway will warm up in no time," he added.

"A doorbrush would help the gap at the bottom of the door, and a door curtain would also stop any drafts from coming into the house."

Donnachadh's next step was to take a look at our kitchen door, with its keyhole allowing a permanent shaft of air coming into the room.

He told us that putting tape over the keyhole on the outside would prevent cold air from coming in.

Things to look out for: door gaps, drafts from cracks, air coming through keyholes, broken locks and draughty letterboxes.

Solutions: draught excluders, taping keyholes, fixing locks and getting draught-resistant letterboxes.

Floors

Our drafty house's wooden floorboards once supported plush carpet. While it's since been ripped up, the boards themselves have not changed since the house was built in the 1870s.

Well worn, they are incredibly draughty, with no insulation protecting them from the cold cellar air blowing from below.

"This is a source of a large amount of your heat loss and needs to be dealt with urgently," Donnachadh said, reckoning that a whopping 15 per cent of our home's heat loss was going through the floor.

By filling in the floorboard gaps and nailing wood fibre insulation board to the cellar ceiling, we should be a lot warmer, he says.

Things to look out for: holes.

Windows

A crack as small as 2mm around a window can let in as much cold air as leaving the window open 8cm, so it's essential to make sure your windows fit well.

The windows in our kitchen and living room had gaps large enough to stick pencils through, and air vents in the toilets were either left open or were broken.

After blocking up the vents with some strip insulation and recycled cardboard, we found the toilet and kitchen now felt 100 times warmer.

Our next step was to look at the sash windows in our house, whose draughts needed blocking with draught excluders along the sides and in between the window frames.

Donnachadh also noted that installing curtains on the kitchen windows would help even more, as would drawing our bedroom curtains (and having them thermally lined, or at least double-lined) with Velcro, to ensure their complete closure at night.

Things to look out for: broken locks, draughts coming in between the panes or between the pane and frame.

Solutions: strip insulation, fixing the locks, heavy curtains.

DRAUGHT EXCLUDER: Expert Donnachadh McCarthy can audit your home to give you the best advice on being green

By KATE WHITING

THE credit crunch has been blamed for a lot of things – repossession, redundancies and the demise of Woolworths – but in recent weeks it has also hit the headlines for reigniting Britain's sex lives.

Sales of condoms have shot up according to Superdrug.

It seems that more and more couples are opting for a steamy night in rather than splashing their cash on a night on the tiles, and some experts are predicting a baby boom next year as a result.

"We've seen a phenomenal rise in the sales of products designed to enhance sexual pleasures and a rise in the sales of condoms compared to this time last year," says Melanie Wilson, Superdrug's healthcare buyer.

"Over the past four weeks we have also seen sales of pregnancy testing kits rise every week – so we'll expect to see sales of nappies rocket later this year."

A recent survey by YouGov named sex as the nation's favourite free activity ahead of window shopping and gossiping, but as with some other trends, we've seen it all before.

Research shows that economic slumps in the past, including during the 70s and the early 90s, caused the birth rate to rise, so could we be set for another baby boom?

"No," says Netmums co-founder Siobhan Freegard.

"We tend to have mums on our website who are already pregnant and already have children, and from their point of view, I would say the credit crunch is probably having the opposite effect in that we're finding mums who would like to have a child are actually holding off and saying 'I'm really worried about my husband's job' or 'it's another mouth to feed'.

"Also people who had hoped to have another

Why we're finding the credit crunch a turn on

Most headlines about the credit crunch were depressing and gloomy, until news broke that the recession has made us all have more sex. We ask the experts about the story behind the headlines, whether it will lead to a baby boom and reveal why sex is good for you baby and move house, for more room, are not able to do that, so they're actually holding back and saying 'we're going to wait and see how things pan out.'

While sales of condoms are increasing, it could well be that people are more worried about getting pregnant and are taking more care with contraception, rather than that they're actually having more sex.

Regardless of whether there will be a baby boom, it certainly seems the nation's sex life is having a healthy surge. That's no bad thing, says relationship expert Paula Hall.

"I've seen the statistics saying condom sales have increased, so unless they're all being used as water balloons, it seems couples are having more sex," she says.

"Certainly I've seen a number of couples who can't afford to go out and do the things they do normally and they're deciding they need to find cheaper forms of entertainment. Staying at home and enjoying themselves sexually is certainly something I'd recommend to help their relationship."

‘GUSSET’

Comedy and pathos meet on the factory floor ...

Pauline Potter's gusset is her guiding light and her epicentre. She has worked in the factory for twenty years as a 'Floater' and that by definition means she floats from one job to another. Pauline feels trapped and is desperate to get out, she is learning to be a writer at night school and with her new book 'Gusset Path to Life' anything is possible.

The gusset determines the way a woman moves and feels. If it is cut the wrong way dramatic changes take place. If you are experiencing mood swings, manic depression, irrational behaviour and want to kill the nearest man to you... check your gusset out!

Don't dispute it

BY TONY PATEY

WITH lay-offs and cost-saving happening in a lot of companies, many workers feel unsafe and edgy.

This is often the time when disputes which are really tea-cup storms become full-blown disagreements.

This is where Acas comes in. It has been part of the industrial landscape for years – in the past it figured in all the big disputes between unions and bosses.

It used to be called by its full name of Advisory, Conciliation and Arbitration Service, but now it's just known by its acronym.

But, although it's involved in all aspects of employment disputes, a key part of its work is mediation – and it's this part which grabbed the headlines years ago when its delegates used to sit down between some tough bargainers on both sides.

Acas has launched a new line of attack, urging employers and employees to resolve any disputes in the workplace rather than going for expensive employment tribunals.

Acas South East senior advisor Sarah Vintner said: "Mediation aims to get people talking together, in a constructive way, so they can sort out their differences.

"Obviously this isn't easy, especially if people haven't been getting on well for some time and have built up very negative pictures of each other.

"That's why the mediation approach we use is quite structured and provides clear ground rules so that people feel as safe as they possibly can.

"That way they are more willing to open up and be honest about what is bothering them."

The mediator first meets each person separately so that there is confidence that the Acas delegate is not there to judge who is right or wrong, and then the process starts.

Ms Vintner said: "A typical scenario for mediation is where two work colleagues have such different personalities and working styles that they each regard the other as rude and unhelpful, sometimes leading to allegations of bullying and harassment.

"A situation which, if left without any attempt to help those two people talk to each other properly, could result in grievances and ultimately disciplinary action as their behaviour begins to breach company standards.

"The typical mediation outcome of such a case is respect and understanding of each other, increased self-awareness and agreements about acceptable and unacceptable behaviours."

FREE book to help your firm

STEP up, folks – here is a FREE book to help firms with their marketing. But you'd better be quick because it's a limited offer.

It's designed to help businesses increase the effectiveness of their marketing, has just been released and is called "Why most marketing doesn't work and how you can fix it...."

Author, business specialist Dean Garland, said: "For most businesses, the quickest way to climb out of the recession and improve their fortunes lies in their ability to use effective marketing tactics.

"Unfortunately, most business owners find that their marketing isn't working as they would like, but have no way of knowing why this is the case."

This comprehensive 99-page book solves this problem and is FREE to KOS Media readers when they enter or mention Kent on Sunday when they go to <http://www.marketingfixit.co.uk/> or call 0844 4480 670 – but only 50 copies are available.

The book has been designed to create a quick win for those aiming to generate more money from their business and get an excellent return on their marketing spending with:

- 31 examples of proven marketing campaigns which have generated millions of pounds for small business owners including detailed summaries on why each one worked

- Why your 'message' has to include the '8 marketing assets'

- How to side-step the competition and eliminate them from the minds of your prospects and customers (without reducing your prices).

Mr Garland, of Rapid Results Marketing, said: "By knowing what marketing to use in certain situations and how to put it into action will be a key skill if small business owners are going to keep their ship afloat during the current economic climate.

"Unfortunately, there are millions of business owners throughout the UK who struggle with this element of their business. I think this is typically because they don't have enough time to dedicate to it and they lack the necessary know-how."

The Book also includes 7 Essential 'Marketing Fix-It Lessons'. All you have to do to receive the book for FREE is to enter the reference number 136 or just type Kent on Sunday along with your contact details. After doing so, you'll be able to get instant access to the book straight from the website. If you'd prefer, phone 0844 4480 070 and give your name, address, telephone number and email address and you'll be sent an email giving you immediate access to the book.

This is the year to be shrewd – or you could be paying a heavy price

IT WAS left to national treasure Robert Peston, the BBC reporter whose strangulated tones guided us through the big financial crises of 2008, to highlight the ironies of a year none would have predicted 12 months ago.

At this stage in the credit crunch, he noted, savers and careful investors who usually come out well in a recession, are carrying the can and showing hefty losses – while many bankers, who caused much of the trouble, got themselves refinanced just in time to collect Christmas bonuses.

Great deals

After a turnaround like that, how can we survive 2009, a year billed in advance as one of the grimdest in years?

Here's a New Year medley of tips:

- Always keep within the authorised overdraft limit on your bank account.

The average authorised interest rate is 14.48 per cent, while the average cost of unauthorised debit interest is over 60 per cent more expensive.

- Beware of too many bargains: "You run the risk of buying things you don't need", says Gill Wrigley of Tenon Recovery, "so keep a check on what you spend and keep to your list."

- Slash those mobile phone bills: James Parker, mobiles and broadband manager at

BY JEREMY GATES

Moneysupermarket.com, says great value SIM-only deals will catch on in 2009.

"Asda and Ikea have already entered the market from the High Street and 2009 should see more big names joining the fray", he says.

"With the market for SIM-only becoming ever more competitive, we should see some great deals for consumers."

- Guard against the sack: Emma Walker, head of protection at Moneysupermarket.com, thinks rising job losses will make payment protection insurance (PPI) for loans and mortgages a "major focus for 2009".

- Homebuyers will be "increasingly happy" to switch to Standard Variable Rate (SVR) mortgages at the end of a fix, says Louise Cuming, head of mortgages at Moneysupermarket.com. However, Cuming fears "a flurry of conditions imposed by lenders to prevent borrowers from benefiting from the SVR rate will continue".

- Take trouble to find top savings rates: Kevin Mountford, head of savings at Moneysupermarket.com, says "a couple of new providers will enter the market – good news for consumers as it will help to keep the new breed of super banks on their toes."

"There will be a gap between best and average accounts, so savers must be vigilant."

- Loans will get dearer: Tim Moss, head of loans at Moneysupermarket.com, says rising defaults on repayments, and banks making less money from PPI will result in higher APRs. He thinks rates could hit 12 per cent, the level of five years ago, after several years in single figures, with only 'prime' customers getting unsecured loans.

- Equity release catches on: Anthony Rafferty at Norwich Union says 2009 will see the start of products sold via major banks and building societies to older homeowners keen to turn bricks and mortar into ready cash.

- Look to save on home and car insurance: Simon Lambie at Confused.com reckons the average saving by the website's customers in 2008 was £186 on home insurance, and £208 on motor cover.

Decent return

- Look to pay down the mortgage with any spare cash: Simon Lambie at Confused.com says a £100,000 borrower on a 25-year repayment loan, with an interest rate of five per cent, saves over £12,200 in interest payments by overpaying by £50 per month. They would also cut the repayment period by three-and-a-half years.

- Don't be afraid to spend: Geoff Tresman, chairman of Punter Southall Financial Management says: "Wherever possible, pay down debt. It could get expensive in 2009."

- If you have the money, I would suggest you spend some of it in 2009 – on electrical equipment, white goods, clothes, available at prices last seen 25 years ago."

- Long-term savers might get a decent return by buying a traded endowment policy, which the original owner is selling well ahead of maturity. Brian Goldstein, chairman of The Association of Policy Market Makers claims latest figures show these policies returning an average 8.3 per cent a year over 25 years, much better than saving accounts and shares in the current climate.

- Serious savers are likely to find corporate bonds – issued by companies to raise funds – will be the most rewarding asset class in 2009, says investment director Rob Pemberton at wealth manager HFM Columbus.

- Flat owners might try to extend their lease, says Philip Rowland, leasehold specialist at Sussex-based law firm Adams & Remers.

Rowland said: "In a market where selling property is difficult, it makes sense for flat owners to protect their investment by using their statutory rights to extend their lease."

- Pay off more than the minimum on credit card debts, says Simon Lambie at Confused.com. "If customers pay only the minimum – ie, two per cent on a £5,000 balance each month, on an interest rate of 15 per cent, it would take 463 months (over 38 years) to repay the original amount, plus interest of £7,652."

"Pay an extra £50 per month, and the pay-back period falls to 73 months, with interest only £2,009", says Mr Lambie.

No doubt you've noticed a common theme running through these tips: 2009 is the year when you take a keen interest in money and understand exactly where it's going. If not, you could pay a heavy price.

Word on the street is...

MARKET stall owner Steve Humble said: "It's affected everyone. People are definitely cutting back on non-essentials and things are difficult."

"I've had to cut back on other things too. I used to employ two members of staff, and unfortunately I had to let one go."

"We have also had to cut out visiting markets where we have to drive a long way due to petrol costs, and this year I will be taking a one week holiday instead of two weeks."

CANTERBURY street cleaner Matthew Cole said: "I'm getting by, but my family are having to budget much more carefully than we were before; everything from food to gas bills."

"And whereas you used to look forward to holidays and nights out and things like that, now we have to be a lot more careful."

"But it's just a question of budgeting better. I'm lucky because I'm in a fairly secure job that is paid weekly."

LORD mayor's chauffeur Laurence Dunderdale said: "So far it hasn't affected us that badly. Obviously, like everyone else we are keeping an eye on the bills, things like the

We visited Canterbury to find out how all of you are dealing with the credit crunch

utilities and food, but so far we are doing OK."

"I'm semi-retired, but I have two part-time jobs – I'm the Lord Mayor of Canterbury's chauffeur and bursar of an alms house charity."

"We're also keeping an eye on our investments, and we've moved a couple to get better rates."

OWNER of Marlowe Florists John Scanlon said: "The walk-in sales have dried up completely; the £6 to £10 casual market is dead – those few quid are staying in people's pockets now."

"People are still buying the big bouquets for people's birthdays and things like that, because they have to. If a husband forgets his wife's birthday he's in trouble."

"But if it wasn't for people dying, getting married, or having birthdays I don't know what we'd do."

"I'm selling a quarter of what I'd normally sell from walk-in sales. The business used to be 50-50 between walk-in and pre-ordered."

THE Lunatic Fringe manager Steve Wallace said: "We are alright, but it's depressing to see other places going under when you're doing OK yourself."

"We have a good number of regular clients who come in every four to six weeks, and Christmas was busy so now in January and the beginning of February we're getting a lot of people in again."

"People always want their hair cut, especially now spring is coming, and people are thinking about a restyle. We are a ray of light."

JUSTIN Weston, owner of the Secret Café, said: "I'm doing OK. Before Christmas I was really feeling the pinch, so I brought in a new credit crunch menu."

"I did away with the restaurant side of it, and pared it back to only selling things on the specials board – a couple of mains and a couple of choices of soup."

"Now I have a regular stream of customers, but they all come in to eat because it's cheaper. It's more of a café than a coffee shop now."

"In times like these every business needs a strategy and mine was to cut the prices on food."

Recipe to beat tough times

Staying in is the new going out, but feeding a crowd can end up costing a packet. Fiona Beckett, author of The Frugal Cook, shows how to feed your friends without breaking the bank

BY LUCY CORRY

WHEN it's cold and bleak outside, I love having people over for dinner.

They're always grateful to be fed, it's a chance to cook something more exciting than the usual weekday pasta and sauce combo, and it's a good way to return favours or get to know people better.

But unless you're careful, entertaining at home can be a fast-track to economic ruin. Many's the time when a quick bit of accounting has shown that dining in can cost as much as dining out – and you still have to do the dishes and clean up afterwards.

Foodwriter Fiona Beckett has got plenty of ideas on how to be a generous host without resorting to beans on toast for the rest of the month.

Her new book, The Frugal Cook, is packed with recipes and ideas to turn simple ingredients into meals with the wow factor.

She says it is possible to skimp without it showing – you just need to be clever.

"Make up for your lack of cash by inviting friends to a meal that sounds fun," she says.

"You could tie it to an event... or focus on a type of food, like a cupcake tea, a jelly and ice-cream party, or a soup supper."

Here Fiona shares two recipes.

Caramelised Cauliflower Soup

Serves 4-6

1 medium to large cauliflower

75g unsalted butter

1/4 tsp curry powder plus a little extra for decoration

150ml semi-skimmed milk
600ml light vegetable stock

Salt, black pepper and lemon juice to taste
Chop the cauliflower. Cut the butter into cubes, put them in a large saucepan and place on a medium to high heat. Add the cauliflower and cook, stirring occasionally until golden brown (about 12-15 minutes).

Stir in the curry powder and cook for another two to three minutes then add the milk, and bring to the boil, stirring. Reduce the heat, cover the pan and simmer for five minutes.

Add 300ml of the stock, bring to the boil then cook gently until the cauliflower is soft. Remove the pan from the heat, leave to stand for five minutes then tip the contents into a liquidiser and puree until smooth. Return to the pan.

Whizz up the remaining stock in the blender to pick up the last bits of the puree and add to the cauliflower. Stir well and re-heat gently.

Season to taste with lemon juice, salt and black pepper. Serve in small bowls with chives and a light dusting of curry powder.

Empress of Puddings

Serves 4

400ml whole milk
finely grated rind of 1 small unwaxed lemon
15g butter
25g caster sugar
80g fresh breadcrumbs
2 large egg yolks
3tbsp raspberry jam
125g fresh or frozen raspberries or mixed small berries

For the meringue:

2 large egg whites
110g caster sugar

You will need a lightly greased small to medium-sized shallow oven-proof dish about 750ml in capacity.

Pour the milk in a saucepan, add the lemon rind and stir then place over a low heat until the milk is hot. Add the butter and caster sugar and leave a couple of minutes until melted then strain the milk over the breadcrumbs. Stir and leave for 20 minutes.

Meanwhile heat the oven to 160C/325F/Gas 3. Beat the soaked breadcrumbs, then beat in the egg yolks and tip the mixture into the greased pie dish. Place the dish in a roasting tin of water and bake for about 45 minutes until the top is lightly set.

Put the jam in a small saucepan with the frozen fruit, warm through and spread gently over the pudding without breaking the surface.

Whip the egg whites until stiff then whisk in half the sugar until the mixture is thick. Fold in the remaining sugar and spread over pudding.

Put the pudding back in the oven, turn the heat down to 150C/300F/Gas 2, and cook for 15-20 minutes until the meringue is golden brown.

Help available to keep the roof over your head

By STEVE KNIGHT

HOMEOWNERS and tenants have been assured that help is always at hand if they are struggling to make their monthly mortgage or rental payments.

According to the public services website Directgov, losing a home can usually be avoided if the person living there fully explores the numerous options available to them first.

For example, owners can often negotiate a new payment plan with their mortgage lender, while they and those renting properties should also find out if they are eligible for any housing benefits.

In both cases Directgov advises people to pay as much as they can manage each month, as regular payments at least demonstrate to lenders and landlords that they are committed to overcoming their problems.

For those homeowners who feel there really is no way out, the Government announced last week that it was rolling its mortgage rescue scheme out across the country.

The £200 million programme – which is being managed by the National Housing Federation (NHF) – allows people to take a loan from or sell their homes to housing associations, who will then lease the property back. Residents in Tunbridge Wells, Maidstone, Dartford, Tonbridge and Malling and Shepway were among the first to benefit when the scheme was piloted in December.

DON'T PANIC: Assistance for homeowners

NHF chief executive David Orr said: "The mortgage rescue scheme will save thousands of vulnerable families from the nightmare of having their homes repossessed and give them the long-term stability they need."

"This scheme will also serve to undermine those shadowy companies currently making money out of people's misfortune by buying their properties at substantially less than the going rate – and then only letting them stay on a short-term tenancy basis."

For those people who cannot pay their rent or are worried they may not be able to in the future, the message from Directgov is clear – sort things out as soon as you can.

Tenants are advised to prioritise the debts they need to pay off and, most importantly, to talk through their problems with their landlord.

Landlords usually have the right to evict for rent arrears depending on their tenancy agreement, so it is important they are always kept informed of their tenant's current situation.

A number of groups exist to provide help and advice to people such as struggling homeowners, including the Consumer Credit Counselling Service and Community Legal Advice.

Shelter also gives advice on all types of housing issues, as does the Citizens Advice Bureau.

Making a budget can control your money

By JENNA PUDELEK

CREATING an accurate personal budget will help to cut-out needless expenses and save money during these times of economic hardship.

Realistic records of funds coming in and out allow people to know how much spare cash they have available when speaking to creditors, who can then advise on ways to pay back the money owed back over a period of time.

"Keep a record of everything you spend money on to complete an accurate picture of your monthly expenditure," is the advice issued by the Consumer Credit Counselling Service (CCCS).

The Financial Services Authority (FSA), the national financial watchdog, provides an online budget calculator and the Government has also provided a step-by-step guide to make the process as painless as possible at its Directgov website.

The first step for creating a personal budget is to calculate 'outgoings' by digging out recent bank statements, energy bills, telephone bills, council tax, water rates, insurance and other similar expenses.

Also include anything paid for by standing orders such as mortgage or rent payments.

Estimate the amount spent on everyday items such as food, clothes, petrol, pet food and newspapers as well as cash forked out for other 'events' like Christmas, birthday presents, going to the dentist and holidays.

Calculate total outgoings for a full year and then divide by 52 or 12 to get a weekly or monthly figure.

Income is worked out through checking payslips to get an accurate figure for wages, plus any benefits such as child tax credit and any rent from lodgers or adult children.

@ yourkenttv.co.uk

One of the biggest family costs is the holiday. We look at how to save money and enjoy what's on your doorstep

Add up the total income for a week or a month and then take away the expenditure.

If there is a 'shortfall' or more money is being spent than is coming in, the Government advises people to "prioritise spending and cut back on commitments you can't afford".

Money can be saved by 'shopping around' to find the best deal on gas, electric and telephone bills, surviving on the bare essentials and dealing with debts immediately.

People have also been advised to find out if they are owed any additional benefits or tax credits and to ensure that everyone in the household who is working is paying their share.

A budget is only an estimate of income and it is important to keep track of money coming in and expenses to keep your plan up-to-date and accurate.

The Government's money experts advise keeping a notebook to hand and writing down everything spent over the course of a couple of months.

Budgets need reviewed regularly in case a new job comes along or there are other changes in circumstance.

Spare money can be kept in savings accounts and the FSA can provide good personal financial advice, the Government added.

Demand a better mobile deal today

BY STEVE KNIGHT

MOBILE telephones have become an essential part of everyday life over the past decade, albeit a pricey part at that.

Whether on contract or pay-as-you-go, most of us now pay more money to speak to friends and family than at any time in the past.

The average mobile phone bill is £205.20 a year, but industry experts claim that figure could be much lower if users took the time to research the different tariffs available.

Consumer finance journalist Martin Lewis, who in 2003 founded MoneySavingExpert.com, said: "Anyone on a contract mobile phone is holding a serious money-saving weapon, and that's loyalty."

"When nearing the end of the contract, ask for the very best deal possible – not just on your network, but any out there."

"If the person at the other end won't budge, tell them 'give me a better package or I'll leave' and you'll be put through to the disconnections department, which internally is called 'customer retentions' and has massively more discretion to offer better packages to keep you."

"If they don't give you what you want then you need to shift networks to a better deal."

There are many other ways to save money on mobile telephones, such as considering whether it is really worth insuring your handset given that you could probably afford to buy a new one when you add up all the monthly charges.

People looking to save money should also cut down on the obvious unnecessary expenses associated with downloading music tracks, ringtones and wallpapers that can sometimes cost up to £3.50 a time.

There are also ways in which you can make money from your mobile telephone, such as recycling one that you no longer use.

The Carphone Warehouse gives up to £20 off a new handset if you trade in your old one.

Persuading a friend to sign up to the same network as you can also earn you a tidy sum. 3Mobile, for instance, gives £30 to both parties if you recommend a friend and they sign a contract.

That figure rises to £45 each if you sign up for mobile broadband.

But perhaps the simplest piece of advice is to consider what it is you really need from your telephone.

If you can live without a satellite navigation system, a powerful camera and other non-call or text-related add-ons, chances are your handset will cost you a lot less.

Crunch can make your will out of date

THE CREDIT crisis has made thousands of wills across Kent out of date and in need of rewriting, experts have warned.

The Law Society, which represents solicitors in England and Wales, said the economic slowdown that has seen home values plummeting and other investment struggling meant that many assets in a person's will had lost their value.

Paul Marsh, president of the society, said: "Those wanting to leave friends and family in a secure position after they pass away might find that what they have left in their will has considerably less value than when their solicitor wrote it."

Tax planning

"With homes losing value, people may need to look again at their wills – especially if they have included tax planning provisions which are no longer appropriate."

"The same goes for shares and other assets. The value of the assets in a person's will might have fallen significantly since it was drafted and so the will may need to be rewritten."

Mr Marsh said: "It is essential that anyone with a will who has not looked to update it recently goes to their solicitor to review it and, if needs be, change it to reflect their current financial situation."

"A solicitor is best placed to advise on any necessary amendments, as well as provide guidance on tax planning."

"Reducing the tax burden on the assets you wish to leave in your will has an even more relevant benefit for your family and friends in the current economic climate."

"If you do not have a will, now would be a good time to write one or risk leaving friends, families or other intended recipients of your assets with nothing."

If you are feeling the pinch due to the economic downturn, Citizens Advice Bureaus can offer advice on creating and maintaining wills.

Money left to husbands, wives or civil partners count as an 'exempt beneficiary' and there usually won't be any inheritance tax to pay.

Up to £312,000 can be left to anyone tax free and anything above that is taxable at 40 per cent.

Inheritance tax does not have to be paid on assets or money left to a registered UK charity.

The Law Society urged everyone to ensure their wills were up to date.

And the Solicitors Journal reported last week that the effects of the economic downturn were already being felt at HM Revenue and Customs in Nottingham after the revenue reported receiving a lot of claims for loss on sale of shares.

For more information and advice on writing wills go to www.direct.gov.uk or www.lawsociety.org.uk.

Triple-whammy drives motorists to think meaner, leaner and greener

IT NORMALLY takes five to seven years to bring a new car to the market, so hard-pressed carmakers deserve credit for so much choice in a market made suddenly harder.

They and their buyers faced a triple-whammy last year: the recognition of global warming, a need to be seen to be greener and now a belt-tightening recession of global proportions.

The Government has also attempted to drive people into smaller and cleaner cars through new road tax bandings ranging from zero to £400/year and set to become tougher.

By 2010, gas guzzling limos or 4x4s face £950 road tax in the first year, although anyone spending £50,000-100,000 on a car is unlikely to be put off by such a paltry sum.

For those who want to reduce their motoring costs and emissions footprint though, 2009 opened with plenty of options.

The headline grabber is Toyota's all-new IQ baby car. Seating three adults and a child within a bodyshell barely longer than a two-seat Smart city car is no mean feat by the world's No1 carmaker. It entailed clever downsizing of traditional components and yet the IQ has looks and equipment to become a cult car.

Talking of which, Fiat has not done so badly with its retro-styled 500 city car – in its junior form it offers affordable road presence as well as great economy.

Most carmakers are also falling over themselves to come up with 'eco-branding' for the most miserly and low-emission versions of top sellers; German car marques have a strange

TOYOTA IQ: Proper car in small package

ULTRA GREEN:
Ford's Fiesta is out
now – the ECOnetic

urge to describe their greenest offerings as 'blue' hence the BlueMotion series from VW and rather less snappily labelled BlueEfficiency models from Mercedes-Benz.

In their usual bid to be different from each other, Vauxhall and Ford have each come up with something similar: the greenest Vauxhalls are ecoFLEX, while Ford counterparts are ECOlogic.

The duo's newest standard bearers are the Vauxhall Insignia ecoFLEX family/company car sector model and Ford's impressive road tax-exempt Fiesta ECOlogic.

Such 'eco-specials' can achieve improved fuel consumption, emissions and road tax bills with a mix of enhanced aerodynamics, revised engine management and gearbox ratios and lower rolling resistance tyres.

However, they don't come cheap, so weigh potential long-term savings against the greater upfront cost – if you don't cover the miles, then conventional alternatives may be a better bet.

Don't ignore petrol models either; the higher price of diesel cars and the fuel at the pumps need to be compared with new and more powerful small petrol models available such as VW's new turbocharged 1.4-litre variants.

On the wider issue of alternative fuels see our Fuel For Thought feature later in this section.

VAUXHALL: Has adopted ecoFlex branding for the greenest versions of its model line-up

 Motability

GET REAL

Smart driving saves money

SWAPPING your car for something more economical, road-tax friendly and cheaper to insure is an obvious way to tighten your motoring belt, but we can all save money with smarter driving.

Try to avoid short journeys for a start; a cold engine can produce 60 per cent more pollution than a warm one and a car that leads a life of short journeys needs more servicing and the engine will wear more quickly.

Traffic on our roads contributes 26 per cent of the UK's total carbon dioxide emissions (CO2) but, having decided your journey must be by car, check these tips from the IAM (Institute of Advanced Motorists) and RAC Foundation motoring watchdogs:

- Plan your route – forethought can save wear and tear on the car and the driver. Try to take the most direct route – a sat nav can help – and go off peak if possible. If you have to commute by car, think about car sharing, 'Park and Ride' schemes or public transport.

- Have your vehicle serviced regularly to maintain efficiency and economy. Underserviced engines can reduce fuel economy by 10 per cent or more. Catalytic converters are environmentally friendly, but only when properly maintained.

- Check tyres – under-inflated tyres need replacing more often (itself an environmental problem), are dangerous and waste fuel. Anybody who has cycled on 'flabby' tyres knows what extra effort is involved, so check pressures weekly.

- Obey speed limits to save money and keep you on the right side of the law. Try to 'feather' the throttle as you reach cruising speed; 56mph uses 25 per cent less fuel than 70mph and a smoother driving style can bring significant fuel saving.

However, never coast in neutral or with clutch pedal depressed to save fuel; vehicle control must not be compromised.

ECONOMY: Review your driving techniques to save money all round (top) and (below) keep on top of tyre pressures to save fuel and wear and tear

Fuel for thought

MORE than ever, UK drivers are asked to think about what is cheapest and best to run their car on.

Diesel has become first choice, accounting for more than half of all new car sales, but can it continue?

Part of diesel's appeal was cheapness, greater mpg and the ability of the engines to deliver low-down pulling power and meet tighter emissions legislation.

However, the fuel now commands an increasing premium against petrol and there are questions about whether the fuel can continue to meet ever-tighter emission laws.

In addition, petrol has fought back with smaller, lighter and cleaner engines with turbocharging and even supercharging for extra flexibility, but there are other power source candidates emerging to save money and the planet:

Hybrid

Toyota is readying the third generation of its ground-breaking Prius hybrid and Honda plans the launch of a new Insight family hatchback priced to attack the likes of the Ford Focus. Both hybrids use petrol engines in tandem with electric units.

But two powerplants and power supplies – fuel tank plus batteries – mean more weight, while complexity of production questions profitability. If you're considering a hybrid you need to be covering many miles to justify extra upfront cost and bear in mind motorway mpg is hardly better than a standard car.

LPG

Liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) looks like an excellent alternative fuel due to lower fuel duty and emissions, cheaper car tax and grants towards the higher cost of buying new or converting older vehicles to run on LPG.

There is also a plentiful UK LPG supply as a spin-off from natural gas and refinery production of other fuels.

There are many more LPG filling points across the country too – Kent now has some 40 LPG sites – and Proton recently launched a petrol and LPG version of its GEN-2 family hatchback for the same price as the petrol-only model (£10,765).

LPG costs about half that of petrol and diesel at the pump, emits about 20 per cent less CO2 than petrol and slightly less than diesel and fewer nitrogen oxides and particulates than diesel. However, the calorific value and mpg is slightly lower than for petrol and it will cost at least £1,500 to convert an existing vehicle via an approved LPG Association operator.

Electric

Electric-powered vehicles should be cheap to run, but battery technology is not yet advanced enough to guarantee ranges to satisfy would-be owners. There is the obvious worry too that the car's emissions are being transferred from the exhaust pipe to the chimney of a power station burning fossil fuel.

Peugeot's smooth diesel models have done much to persuade UK drivers to switch from petrol and this Peugeot 308 HYbrid 2 concept shows how the French marque is also looking at a diesel-electric combination for the future

Biofuels

Biofuels derived partly from vegetable matter appeal since plants absorb CO2 during growth and simply release it again when burned – a virtuous circle. Fuels derived with an element of plant matter divide broadly into biodiesel and the petrol alternative bioethanol, and most road fuels sold in the UK will contain at least five per cent biofuel by next year, anyway. Some specialist vehicles are available that can run on higher 'bio' concentrations, but there is concern that turning over arable land or forest to grow 'biofuel' plants will strain the world's food supplies.

Hydrogen

Use of this abundant gas to power electricaly-driven cars – Honda already has an extensive trial running in California – looks like the future. Hydrogen cars are zero emission, but it is proving hard to establish the cost and possible emissions side-effects of producing the hydrogen fuel.

Director chooses life for film number seven

■ BY SHEREEN LOW
DANNY Boyle likes a challenge.

That's why the English filmmaker, who has seven films to his name, embraced the chaos of India for his latest movie.

The Bollywood-inspired Slumdog Millionaire has already won many awards, including four Golden Globes and is bound for potential Oscar honours.

Shot in Mumbai and starring Skins star Dev Patel, the film centres around Jamal Malik, a street kid who finds himself facing the all-important question when he appears on the game show Who Wants To Be A Millionaire?

In terms of subject matter, it couldn't be further away from his last film, the space adventure Sunshine.

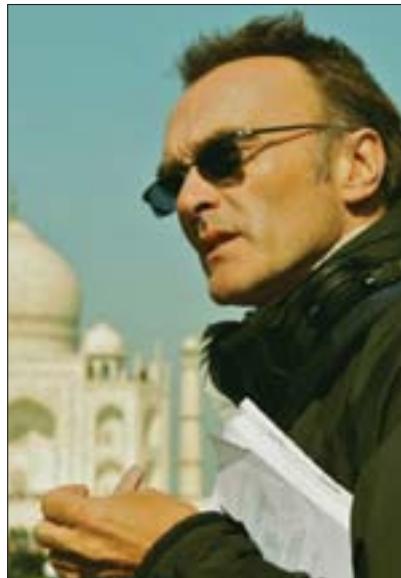

"It certainly felt like a chance to do something so different and there isn't a bigger contrast from outer space than Mumbai," says 52-year-old Danny. "I loved that change because Sunshine took too long and it was too isolated an experience making it, you're cut off from people really. It's so meticulous to detail."

"You can't worry about that in India. You have to go with it, you can't control things. Space movies are all about control and directing, but in India, you can't. You'd just waste your budget trying to control anything."

Always eager to adapt, the Lancashire-born director welcomed the challenges and changes working in India brought.

"I loved it. If you go with the right attitude, it's an incredible experience," he says. "It changes you forever. You're just learning the whole time. I find it an extraordinary place."

"All life is there in all its beauty and ugliness. There are such extremes – of wealth, poverty, happiness, sadness, horror, extraordinary redemptive things – and they don't separate them. As a place to drive a story through, it's fantastic. For me directing it, it's amazing – the energy of the place, the potential.

"I'm a complete devotee of it now. I could easily make another film there, I'd love to go back. It has enormous heart, you know."

Danny loved the country so much he decided to incorporate a Bollywood-style dance sequence into the film.

"It was genuine," he says. "If you're there for a lot of time, you just have to dance. It's just natural. It would have been wrong not to do that. It's like making a film about America without showing a motorcar."

Despite making numerous films since, Danny is still closely associated with his second movie, Trainspotting. The 1996 film became a cult classic and rumours have been circulating ever since about a potential sequel.

He admits he would love to get involved with the project if it ever took off.

The idea is to use the same actors playing the same parts but they've hit middle age, literally, he says. "The problem is they [the original cast] don't look middle-aged yet."

"They look pretty much the same still, and you think, 'how long are they going to stay looking like that?' because at some point, age is going to go 'boof', and when it does, we'll be there waiting for it."

PROPERTY NEWS

Don't bank on a year of decline

UNCERTAINTY could yet deliver good news to the housing market and not just doom and gloom, one of the UK's top money experts has said.

While the general mood is the housing market will continue to decline over the coming months, chief economist of Britain's largest building society, Nationwide, says we should assume nothing just yet, but wait to see how the economy unfolds.

Fionnuala Earley, has suggested how, despite the recession seen in the final quarter of 2008, the economy may benefit from the built-up demand of first-time buyers who will invest when the markets begin to recover.

She said: "In these turbulent times the uncertainties around all forecasts are greater than usual.

"If the economy goes into a deeper recession we should expect to see a slower recovery in the cycle.

"However, if the economy recovers more swiftly, we may expect a faster turnaround in the housing market.

"Three main factors have been behind the sharp fall in prices: credit conditions, expectations and affordability."

"Conditions remain volatile going into 2009 making it more difficult than usual to arrive at a specific forecast for house prices. In these unsettled times a forecast subject to frequent change could itself add to greater uncertainty."

Policy plans for Brits living abroad

HOLIDAY home insurance specialist Intasure has introduced a new policy for people who have their main homes in Britain but are abroad for much of the year.

The company, which provides policy documents in English and operates a UK-based English-speaking support team, also provides cover for holiday homes across European countries and further afield, such as Thailand and the United Arab Emirates.

The firm says its policies are designed around the needs of property owners and can include locally tailored cover.

The new policy for UK-domiciled holiday home owners is being promoted by insurance company JML, which points out that increasing numbers of British second home owners are retired and can therefore spend long periods away from their main residences.

Trading up offers silver lining in cloudy market

■ BY NICK AMES

THE fall in house prices has brought some good news for people looking to climb up the property ladder.

And it comes as a result of tumbling house prices reducing the gap between one and two-bedroom homes.

One-bedroom houses have fallen in value by eight per cent in a year, while two-bedroom houses have seen almost 12 per cent slashed from their value.

The difference in price between a one and two-bedroom home is now £31,000 on average – that's the lowest in five years. Just 12 months ago it was £41,000.

Now estate agents are hoping more people will choose now to sell their home to first-time buyers and move up, helping free the market and benefit sellers across all price ranges.

With interest rates at their lowest level ever, that additional £30,000 on the mortgage could cost as little as £120 a month extra.

One analyst said for many people it means affordability they may not have realised amid all the economic gloom.

The value of two-bedroom homes had fallen the most, losing 11.92 per cent during 2008, compared with a drop of eight per cent for one-bedroom homes.

Three-bedroom house prices have fallen too, by an average of 11.89 per cent. But it is still cheaper than a year ago to trade up from two to three bedrooms.

It costs £58,436 on average – 12 months ago it was £66,264.

Slowdown

One estate agent said: "These are tough times and house prices have fallen. But if people can afford to sell their house for less, they will be able to buy a better home for less as well."

But when you get into four-bedroom territory it is now more expensive to bridge the average price gap between a three- and four-bedroom house.

The average cost of a four-bedroom home has fallen from £390,343 to £370,276 during the last year, but because the price of three-bedroom homes has fallen faster, the cost of trading up has increased from £141,733 in 2007 to £151,235.

Nicholas Leeming, director of propertyfinder.com, said: "The real catalyst for house price falls has been a lack of mortgage availability, particularly for less credit-worthy borrowers."

"This means the bottom end of the market has been more impacted by the slowdown and prices there have fallen more rapidly."

"People higher up the ladder will naturally find it easier to gain access to finance in order to move, but because of this the price of four-bed properties has only fallen five per cent compared with around 12 per cent for two and three beds, so the financial gap has actually widened."

SIGN OF THE TIMES: But house price falls and low interest rates have brought larger homes within reach

MOTORS NEWS

French coupé chic

RENAULT dealers have the French marque's new halo model in stock – the sleek and sporty Laguna Coupé.

Gary Obee of Motorline Ashford said: "For what is such a strikingly beautiful and well equipped car, the price tag (from £20,995) is incredibly low and it comes with a host of equipment as standard."

The newcomer offers two versions of Renault's acclaimed 2.0 dCi diesel engine and two petrol engines (2.0 and 3.5 V6) all with six-speed transmission – a 3.0 V6 dCi is also promised soon.

Extra zero appeal

SUZUKI has extended its recession-busting zero per cent finance offer until March 31 and this includes the Swift supermini and new ultra-economical 1.0-litre version of the Splash mini-MPV.

The Japanese brand has also added a cool new option to the lively 1.6-litre Swift Sport – cool white pearl metallic paint – from £11,750.

In addition, there is a new website to stoke consumer interest in the latest Alto budget model due on March 1, with CO2 emissions of only 103 g/km and potential 62 mpg.

Strangled at birth?

PETROLHEAD rumour-mongers will have fun with this gorgeous VW roadster concept unveiled at the Auto Show in Detroit.

The German car giant insists that "Concept BlueSport is a design study with no immediate plans for production", but one wonders whether this decision was made before or after Porsche's recent takeover of the VW Group and its understandable concern about potential damage to Porsche Boxster sales.

The supercar brand already has a 'cuckoo' in the VW corporate nest – Audi's Porsche 911 rival, the R8.

CLASSY: The Fabia's Sport trim adds a few thousand to the price of your car, but it's money well spent when you consider savings in relation to other such cars

ROAD TEST SKODA FABIA

■ BY STEVE LOADER

STAR QUALITY

Driving appeal

Image

Space

Value

Running costs

Reliability

Green rating

standard Fabia's robust materials, ample stowage and – this time around – much 'sunnier' cabin.

It is all a far cry from the Soviet Bloc Skoda plastic-covered card trim of a few decades ago.

A decent size boot with thoughtful detachable stowage bin and two-position parcel shelf, also exhibits modern Skoda's usual thoughtful design.

There is no special chassis tuning to go with the Sport label – this is, no doubt, reserved for the vRS successor – but the basic Fabia set-up is suited to both staid and spirited driving.

Skoda has managed to pitch the ride quality well for the supermini class, yet the car grips and corners with great style.

I had mixed feelings about the flagship 105bhp 1.9TDI engine in our £13,155 test car though.

It is powerful and frugal – capable of averaging nearly 60mpg – but feels heavy and raucous except during motorway cruising, when its economy is best enjoyed.

Consequently, I think many customers should check out the cheaper 1.2 and 1.6-litre petrol and 1.4 diesel Fabia Sport alternatives.

Kent Downs and Marshes has secured £2.25 million from LEADER, a European Community Initiative to support sustainable rural development.

Programme Manager - LEADER

Maidstone

Fixed-term contract until the end of June 2013

Managing the successful implementation of the programme including overseeing the Local Development Strategy and managing budgets with accountability for public funding, a key part of your role will be building links with other rural regeneration programmes and liaising with local organisations.

Your background could be in rural development or programme management, but you have a good understanding of relevant legislative frameworks. Used to operating across organisational boundaries and within multi-agency partnerships, you will have strong financial skills and experience of working with external funders. As relationship-building will be vital, exemplary interpersonal and communication skills are expected. Ref: ER/08/0155

Project Officer - LEADER

£22,825 - £26,159

Maidstone

Fixed-term contract until the end of June 2013

Using your experience of community or project development, you will help to deliver this funding to local agriculture, forestry and rural communities.

You will work with individuals, businesses, community groups and other organisations to develop ideas into well-constructed projects that address issues in the Local Development Strategy. Along with appraising projects for funding, you will also facilitate networking and skills acquisition to help deliver them.

You'll need a good knowledge of the land-based sector or rural development issues, coupled with outstanding interpersonal and communication skills and an excellent understanding of project development and partnership working. Ref: ER/08/0157

GREAT JOB OPPORTUNITIES FOR CREATIVES WITH KOS MEDIA

Great advertising starts with copy and concept

Would you like to join our concept creative team?

We are looking for creative thinkers who can develop copy and concept ideas through to on-screen design. Ideally you will be able to illustrate/scamp out a full brief and idea for potential advertisers and liaise with our other graphic designers or even turn it into a finished on-screen advert.

It will be an advantage to have a good background in copy writing, headlines and marketing skills as well as the ability to understand call-to-action and unique tagline messages. Knowledge of QuarkXPress, Photoshop, Illustrator or InDesign would also be an advantage.

All applicants should include an illustration/scamp of any advert from any local paper, illustrating how this advert could stand out or be portrayed in a way that talks more to its potential consumer than the original advert in the local paper.

We have been recognised nationally for award winning advertising campaigns for our clients, so if you want to be a part of our dynamic creative team in print or online, please send in your CV with a covering letter and your illustration/scamp advert idea to: Paul Stannard, Managing Director, KOS Media, Apple Barn, Hythe Road, Smeeth, Ashford, Kent TN25 6SR or email paul.stannard@kosmedia.co.uk

TERMS AND CONDITIONS

KOS MEDIA (PUBLISHING) LTD

TERMS AND CONDITIONS

1. Advertisements will be accepted only on the express condition that the advertiser warrants that the advertisement does not in any way contravene any existing legislation and in particular the Trade and Description Act 1968 and the Consumer Credit Act 1974.

2. It is the responsibility of all advertisers to ensure that all advertising meets all forms of government legislation and KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd (the "media owner") takes no responsibility for liability in law and/or damages to the content of our media.

3. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time of advertisement appears.

4. All rates within the annual advertising agreement will be rate protected for 12 months from the first date of publication under the signed agreement.

5. Any unsuitable material posted on any website belonging to KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd by the advertiser or any associated third party will be removed or refused. All posted and stored content supplied by the advertiser to KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd in relation to their products or services will be the responsibility of the advertiser. The advertiser indemnifies KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd against any damages as a result of misuse of these privileges by either the advertiser or any third party given password privileges by the advertiser.

6. KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd reserves the right to change passwords intermittently to ensure the overall and ongoing security of its websites within the public domain.

7. Copyright and other intellectual property rights in the media content and for advertising purposes or otherwise within the various forms of media in print, online and moving film owned by KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd must have been sought, verified or paid for by the advertiser where applicable. Approval or permissions must have been given by any potential beneficial owner voice-over or music. The advertiser must be able to verify any statements or claims (promotional or otherwise) in relation to their products/services promoted within any of the media offerings by KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd.

8. Where shrinkage of an advertisement occurs for whatever reason, the advertiser will be entitled to the nearest full centimetre where it relates to the media owner's printed publications. This will NOT apply to full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

9. KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd reserves the right to omit or refuse any advertisement/commercial/web content without notice or explanation. In these events the word "advertiser" shall be construed to include any person or organisation advertising on behalf of the media owner.

10. A guarantee of insertion cannot be given as the media owners shall not be liable for any loss or damage caused by any error inaccuracy within your marketing content. In no case shall the total liability of the media owner for any error or omission exceed the price charged by the media owners for that advertising.

11. No liability is accepted for any loss or damage alleged to have arisen through delay in forwarding to Boxes numbers, however caused, nor for the loss or damage to any artwork supplied.

12. Please note that any copy supplied in your media messages with KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd must be made in writing to the accounts department within 10 days of Media (Publishing) Ltd accepting no responsibility for any errors or omissions made on their websites by the advertiser.

13. KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd accepts no responsibility for any errors or omissions made on their websites by the advertiser.

14. KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd has the right to cancel the advertiser's annual membership without notice should the advertiser deliberately publish out of date material or content on any of the media owner's online digital platforms. KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd will seek to recover, in full, all outstanding invoices in relation to the signed annual membership in respect of the advertiser's negligence in this regard and reserves the right to deduct charges for any services provided to the media owner.

15. Advertisers are requested to check their advertisements after the first insertion. The media owner will not be responsible for any errors on subsequent insertions, which have not been advised to them in writing.

16. A minimum of one month's notice must be given in writing for any cancellation of the signed annual advertiser's agreement. Upon cancellation, all discounts from KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd standard effective date advertising rates will be removed from 20th June 2009 and will be recalculated accordingly in line with KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd standard rates (effective July 2008-June 2009) and will reflect the revised length of commitment denoted by the advertiser's written cancellation. Any surcharges, refunds or costs in relation to the production of the advertiser's TV commercial for the commitment set out within the advertiser's agreement will be met in full by the advertiser as per KOS Media's standard media advertising rate card (July 2008-June 2009). Discounts will be recalculated and any refunds or surcharges will be paid by either party within 30 days of the cancellation. Any cancellation notice and any discounts given for services bookings will be forfeited by the advertiser upon cancellation.

17. Seasonal contracts. Your Professional classified advertisements or any uplift advertising within the annual contract with the advertiser will be booked in full - at rate card - on receipt of any written cancellation of this contract within the 12-months.

18. All uplift advertisements must be booked in at least three months in advance of publication and will be subject to availability. All dates booked will be on a first-come, first-served basis.

19. The advertiser must agree to the date and time of filming of any online TV advertising commercial supplied by KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd within the advertiser's agreement. (Platinum, Gold, Silver standard of commitment). Should, for any reason, the advertiser not be available at the agreed time without giving sufficient notice (at least 48 hours), KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd reserves the right to charge for any further TV production at its standard published hourly rate should the advertiser wish to use KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd's production services company to film the commercial in a different location to the advertiser's agreement. The advertiser will approve and accept that there are only two choices of voice-over and music offered by KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd. Should an advertiser wish to use other voice-overs or non-copyright free music, it is the responsibility of the advertiser to pay the PRS rights should be required to do so. Any changes to or failure to approve the TV production by the deadlines agreed between both parties will result in KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd being given permission by the media owner to replace the voice-over or music with a choice of photography supplied by the media owner until the advertiser can supply a TV commercial produced at their own cost and risk outside of this agreement. The advertiser also accepts and agrees that this action would not reduce the value or cost of their membership. Any cost of changes required to the TV commercial throughout the advertiser's agreement will be borne by the advertiser outside of this agreement.

20. Each advertiser accepts that their ranking and position within KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd's search engine will be equal to those within their category (Platinum, Gold, Silver, Bronze), other than those which are ranked based on the search engine criteria of optimisation within their level (Platinum, Gold, Silver or Bronze).

21. Any delivery claims made by the advertiser or supplier vouchers published within the print or online media of KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd and any action as a result of the public or otherwise is the sole responsibility of the advertiser. Any claims resulting from this via KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd must be met by the advertiser.

22. a. All credit accounts shall be settled by the advertiser to the 30th day of the month, the date of the invoice to be of the essence. All sums due to KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd or RBS Factoring shall be paid in full, and the advertiser shall have no right of set off in any circumstances.

b. In the event that payment is not received by KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd or RBS Factoring by the due date, the media owner reserves the right to charge interest on all overdue balances calculated on a daily basis at the rate of two per cent above the minimum lending rate of National Westminster Bank Plc from time to time.

c. Notwithstanding anything in these terms and conditions or implied to the contrary, in the event of the Advertiser ceasing to use the services of KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd (for whatever reason), the whole amount of monies due from the Advertiser to the date of cessation shall fall due for immediate payment.

d. The Advertiser will be liable for all costs incurred by KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd in the recovery of any monies not paid by the due date.

e. Payment may be made by cheque, credit transfer, direct debit, cash and any major credit card.

f. Any discount which KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd may have agreed with the Advertiser shall be forfeited in the event of failure by the Advertiser to complete the contract or to meet the above credit terms.

24. Advertising Agency commissions will be allowed to those advertisers recognised by the Newsweek Media Group, but shall not exceed ten per cent and will be subject to the terms of that recognition. This commission will not be allowed if the Advertising Agency fails to meet the terms.

25. All private advertisements and certain categories as laid down by KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd must be prepaid.

26. The advertiser agrees to indemnify KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd in respect of all costs, damages or other charges falling upon the media owners or any of the content of the media owner's media group as the result of legal action or threatened legal action or threatened legal action arising from the publication of any advertisement or advertising promotion.

27. An order for an advertisement shall amount to acceptance of these terms and conditions, and any condition placed on an order by an Advertiser shall be null and void in so far as it conflicts with them.

28. Copyright in advertisements produced wholly or partially by the media owners belong to KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the media owner's written consent.

All terms and conditions stated above are in place to protect the advertiser, the media owner and the communities they serve within the public domain as well as the beneficial rights of individuals and organisations. KOS Media will endeavour to always act reasonably in applying its terms and conditions.

Community Cohesion and Equalities Officer

£27,612 • 37 hours per week
Two year contract

Cohesion and Equalities is not just about monitoring, it is about action! At Swale, we see this role as being one that produces results for residents and staff, detecting and addressing exclusion and inequality whilst also using information we hold on Swale residents to tailor services and meet needs.

Swale is a growth area, part of which is in the Thames Gateway. Together with the physical growth, it is developing more diverse resident and migrant populations. This produces a set of challenges, some of which require long term planning and solutions and some which require immediate practical responses.

We are looking for a highly motivated person with a drive to get things done. Excellent project management and communication skills are important as you will need to bring together many different people across our organisation and community to effectively make improvements.

You need to be an equalities expert with a strong commitment to community cohesion and equality, be willing and able to stay informed and be aware of best practice in this field.

In addition to salary, we can offer you a generous annual leave allowance, paid bank holidays, Local Government final salary pension scheme and flexi time working for most posts.

If you would like to discuss this post further, please contact Peter Speakman on 01795 417251 or e-mail peterspeakman@swale.gov.uk

For further information contact Human Resources, Swale Borough Council, Swale House, East Street, Sittingbourne, Kent ME10 3HT. Telephone (01795) 417414 (24 hour voice mail) quoting ref: 206ED4.

HMYOI ROCHESTER & COOKHAM WOOD,
HMP BLANTYRE HOUSE & EAST SUTTON PARK >

EXTRAORDINARY JOBS.
EXTRAORDINARY WORKPLACE.

Do you enjoy working in a challenging environment? Our expanding Works departments have the following opportunities available:

GRADE 2 PLUMBER

HMYOI ROCHESTER & COOKHAM WOOD

HMYOI Rochester is a closed Young Offender Institution, housing approximately 360 18-20 year olds serving sentences of up to four years. It is situated next to HMP Cookham Wood on the outskirts of Rochester. HMYOI Rochester implemented an additional 300 bed temporary custodial facility from Summer 2008 making it one of the largest sentenced Young Offenders Institutions in the UK.

HMYOI Cookham Wood near Rochester has become a Male Juvenile Centre, accommodating 15-17 year olds, commissioned by the Youth Justice Board.

You will be required to work in Rochester and Cookham Wood and will be subject to CRB enhanced clearance.

GRADE 3 PLUMBER

£19,851 RISING TO £21,074 PER ANNUM
THE WEALD OF KENT RESETTLEMENT
HMP BLANTYRE HOUSE & EAST SUTTON PARK

HMP Blantyre House is a semi open resettlement Prison with approximately 120 male prisoners. The Prison is situated in a rural location near Goudhurst.

HMP East Sutton Park first opened as a borstal in 1946. The prison is a Grade 2 listed country mansion house overlooking the Weald of Kent and is used to hold both adult and young offender women in open conditions.

You will be required to work in both Blantyre House and East Sutton Park.

For both positions, you will have gained a recognised apprenticeship and City & Guilds ordinary certificate or equivalent qualification and have proven relevant experience. A City & Guilds advanced certificate or equivalent qualifications, Corgi, Water Supply Regulations course and Water Treatments course would be desirable. You'll work 39 hours per week excluding meal breaks and be expected to work weekends on a rostered shift pattern.

In return, you'll receive 25 days' annual leave plus 10.5 public and privilege holidays per annum and entry into the Civil Service Pension by invitation.

To apply for these posts please email kent-sussex-area-recruitment@hmprisonservice.gov.uk
Applicants will require an email address in order for applications to be sent to them.

The closing date for receipt of completed applications is 8 February 2009.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Proud to set standards on international stage

EDWARDS Harvey, a PR and marketing consultancy with clients across Kent, has achieved internationally recognised quality management and customer service standards for the fourth consecutive year.

The consultancy, which is celebrating its 30th anniversary, has been awarded ISO 9001:2000 accreditation for both quality management systems and customer satisfaction.

The Maidstone-based company has also been re-accredited to the OHSAS:18001 standard for health and safety management.

Managing director Pip Clarkson said: "We're proud of this achievement. By having systems and processes that meet international standards, Edwards Harvey is demonstrating its professionalism."

"We believe in doing things properly and our accreditation is the result of the hard work and dedication of our staff."

The firm is regularly listed in PR Week magazine's best-performing top 150 consultancies in the UK.

FSB backs blueprint to provide jobs bonanza

FEDERATION of Small Businesses Kent and Medway chairman Roger House has backed the organisation's blueprint for tackling rising unemployment with a plan it reckons could create 400,000 jobs.

The FSB's five-point plan identifies promoting part-time working; investing in apprenticeships; simplifying legislation; giving small businesses more opportunities to bid for public contracts; and cutting payroll taxes as the key to unlocking the challenge of unemployment.

Mr House said: "The plan is going to be crucial in creating and retaining jobs during what is going to be a challenging year."

"We are calling for the Government to help small businesses to continue to invest in recruitment and training so they can grow stronger and more competitive, creating quality jobs and doing their bit to pull the UK out of recession as quickly as possible."

The FSB has 7,000 members in Kent.

Rule changes should provide the extra will-power you need

■ BY TONY PATEY

WHERE there's a will, there won't be any problems. So says Kent lawyer Nicola Rostron, who warns that if you're not bothered about making a legal will to cover your worldly goods, think again.

New rules coming into force on February 1 could have damaging effects on the loved ones who survive you, she says.

Ms Rostron, an associate and senior solicitor at Furley Page, which has offices in Canterbury, Chatham and Whitstable, said: "The financial hardship, not to mention fractured family relationships, that can result from the absence of a proper will should persuade people once and for all against dying intestate.

"They need to be aware of what happens to their estate on their death, particularly to some of their assets such as jointly-owned assets; pension pots and life assurance policies which may not necessarily pass as part of the estate and could need particular attention when drafting a will."

When someone dies without leaving a legal will their estate is distributed according to strict statutory rules.

Statutory legacies are paid to surviving spouses or civil partners, the amount received dependent on whether or not the deceased is survived by children, or their children; by parents; or by brothers and sisters, or their children.

DEADLY SERIOUS: Not having a legal will as new rules come into force is folly, says lawyer Nicola Rostron

From February 1 statutory legacies will increase as follows:

- Where the deceased is survived by a spouse/civil partner and children, the level is doubled – from £125,000 to £250,000.
- Where the deceased is survived by a spouse/civil partner and parents or siblings the surviving spouse takes everything.

but no children, the level is increased from £200,000 to £450,000.

If the value of the deceased's estate falls below these levels, it passes entirely to a surviving spouse/civil partner, but if it exceeds the new limits, the rules are as follows.

Where the deceased is survived by a spouse/civil partner and children:

- The surviving spouse/civil partner takes the personal chattels and the first £250,000 together with a life interest in half the remainder.
- The other half of the remainder passes to the children of the deceased equally (and is paid to them when they reach 18.)

The half held on life interest for the surviving spouse/civil partner is also divided equally between the children when the survivor later dies.

Where the deceased is survived by a spouse/civil partner and no children but parents or siblings:

- The surviving spouse/civil partner takes the personal chattels and the first £450,000 and half the remainder.
- The other half of the remainder passes to the parents of the deceased equally or, if they have died, to the siblings of the deceased (or their children) equally.
- Where the deceased is survived by a spouse/civil partner and no children, parents or siblings the surviving spouse takes everything.
- Where only the children survive, they take everything equally but where there's no surviving spouse/civil partner or children there's a strict list of surviving relatives. In the event that no relatives are found, the entire estate passes to the Crown.

Trophy hopes alive after late penalties

DAVE Bathgate booked Deal Town's place in the last four of the Kent Senior Trophy with two late penalties on Saturday.

The quarter-final tie with Tunbridge Wells looked to be heading for a goalless draw, before it was turned on its head by late penalty drama as Deal won 2-0.

Deal won their first spot-kick two minutes from time, which Bathgate dispatched. Town were given a chance to seal their place in the semi-finals in stoppage time when they were awarded a second penalty, again converted by Bathgate.

This Saturday, Deal get back to the league programme with a trip to title challengers Holmesdale.

Ashes hero offers top-class coaching

BUDDING wicketkeepers have the chance to improve their game with the help of Kent and England star Geraint Jones and county coach Simon Willis.

The Kent duo are staging specialist wicket-keeping skills courses during the February half-term break.

The club are giving boys, girls and adults the opportunity to train with coaches dedicated to improving techniques and skills.

Jones said: "We'll give every opportunity for those willing to work hard and push past their potential."

Ex-Whites midfielder seeks help from Hoddle

FOOTBALL

A FORMER Dover Athletic midfielder is trying his luck in Glenn Hoddle's football academy, seen as a last chance saloon for players trying to get into League teams.

James Simmonds spent a month at Crabble with Dover at the end of their Ryman South title-winning season, after manager Andy Hessianhaler used his extensive contacts to bring him in from Premier League giants, Chelsea.

Simmonds returned to Chelsea at the end of the season but the 21-year-old midfielder found his opportunities at Stamford Bridge limited.

He, together with 40 other young footballers, have now been picked up by the Glenn Hoddle Academy (GHA) based in Spain and are aiming for a route back into professional football.

The academy is entirely Hoddle's project in which he takes young footballers from around Europe and gives them an opportunity to improve increasing their chances of being signed by a League club.

Hessianhaler, who managed Simmonds during his time at Crabble, is unsure whether the GHA provides enough competitive football for players to progress, but agrees it's a good thing to give players a second chance.

He said: "Leaving Chelsea was the best thing for him. I think there's nothing wrong with going for trials at other clubs but I think some players are a bit unrealistic and set their standards too high. There is no reason not to drop down as it may give you a chance to get back up."

SUPER SUB: Jerahl Hughes (in red) replaced the injured Shaun Welford and scored a crucial equaliser for Dover to help set up a win to extend their lead in the Ryman Premier DOVER Athletic once again reinforced their role as Ryman Premier champions-elect by coming from behind to beat Ashford Town despite struggling with injuries.

Goals in the last 20 minutes from Jerahl Hughes and Lee Browning provided the club's eighth straight league win. Rivals Dartford did them a favour by drawing with second-placed Staines Town, allowing Dover's lead to extend to a gaping 25 points.

The 23rd win in 26 league games saw them reach 69 points, good enough for a top-five finish in the division last season.

Dover boss Andy Hessianhaler hailed his squad's mental strength in shrugging off the problems to take maximum points.

He said: "It was a bit of a battle out there and to be fair we huffed and puffed a bit in the first half. We didn't really deserve to go a goal down, but we did."

"I didn't go mad at half-time, I just said to the players to keep fighting because we were still in the game. To their credit they did and got the win, which just shows the character the side has this season."

Dover travelled to Middlesex missing several key players, but they began brightly. Laurence Ball, who grabbed the winner in a 2-1 victory over Billericay Town four days earlier, and Olly Schulz came close, while Giuliano Grazioi had a goal chalked off for handball.

Ashford looked a threat going forward and took the lead slightly against the run of play when top-scorer Scott Harris prodded home at the back post. The afternoon got worse for the visitors five minutes later when Welford, who had just had a suspension rescinded, was withdrawn with an eye injury. Sammy Moore smashed a speculative effort against the crossbar, but Dover only gained the upper hand after the break.

Frustration was beginning to set in despite controlling the game, until Hughes equalised on 71 minutes. Within seven minutes the turnaround was completed when Browning was felled in the penalty area. The former Sittingbourne striker converted from 12 yards to score the winner.

Goal drought ended with trademark Jackson strike

FOOTBALL

JIMMY Jackson ended Folkestone Invicta's goal drought to settle a keenly contested Kent derby to end a good week for the Seasiders on and off the pitch.

The veteran midfielder's free-kick was the club's first league goal in more than eight hours of league football and was enough to beat a Whitstable Town side which created few clear chances.

The victory came 48 hours after the club received encouraging news about their outstanding debts (see column).

Seasiders boss Neil Cugley was relieved to see his side finally hit the back of the net in only their second win since October.

He said: "It's hard when you're not scoring goals but I think we thoroughly deserved it. I keep saying I can't knock the players, they worked hard to get the win. We're not playing well yet but hopefully the win will give us a bit more confidence to go to the next game, hopefully we'll be a bit more exciting."

OVERDUE: Jimmy Jackson scored Invicta's first league goal since November with a sublime free-kick

Whitstable almost made a perfect start when Dan Wisker raced on to a through ball in the third minute, but his left-footed shot rolled just wide.

opening, but the game stagnated until Folkestone opened the scoring midway through the second half.

Kieran Byrne was hauled down on the edge of the box and Jackson, so reliable from set pieces, stepped up and found a gap in the wall.

Byrne and Darren Smith had good chances to make the score line more emphatic, but Invicta's back three were rarely troubled even as Whitstable pushed late on.

It was almost certainly the last appearance at home for Dryden, who has interest from at least two clubs. The upside for Invicta is with their improved financial security, Cugley should be able to reinforce his threadbare squad.

He said: "Especially if Jimmy Dryden goes we would be so low on numbers and experience it would be a shame [not to replace him] now, we're only a couple of wins away from staying up."

Invicta visit Burgess Hill Town this Saturday.

Folkestone Invicta begin long battle against extinction

THE man brought in to rescue Folkestone Invicta from extinction declared himself satisfied after the first meeting with HM Revenue & Customs, but he warned there was still a long way to go.

Invicta announced potentially crippling debts of more than £200,000 in October and have been in limbo for three months, uncertain of what the future held.

Mark Jenner, who saved Ashford Town from financial problems several years ago, was brought in to find a solution.

After meeting HMRC last week to discuss the biggest single part of the debt, he gained several concessions. The most important guaranteed the club's survival until the end of the season and reduced the total debt by £50,000.

It gives Invicta more room for manoeuvre but is only the start of the fight to ensure the club's long-term survival.

"I had hoped they would say let's forget all about it, but we're in the real world and to get it reduced by £50,000 at the stroke of a pen is a big step forward," Jenner said.

"It releases the pressure because the last thing I wanted was final demand notices coming through the letterbox because that would have made the directors think about insolvency.

"The fact we're not going to get those letters means we don't have to think about insolvency, so we can carry on as we are.

"It's not going to be easy, there's a significant amount of money we have to find to satisfy the HMRC, so there will be more conversations, I'm sure, come the end of the season."

Jenner, who has spent several years in and around non-league football, believes Folkestone will not be the only club to hit problems as the recession bites.

He said: "We're not alone. I suspect that throughout this level of football there are a number of clubs in some difficulty at the moment."

FIXTURES

(Saturday) Ryman Premier League: Dover Athletic v Hastings United; Ryman South: Burgess Hill Town v Folkestone Invicta; Kent League: Holmesdale v Deal Town, Tunbridge Wells v Hythe Town

Cassius hat-trick dents Hythe's title aspirations

FOOTBALL

Erith Town 4 Hythe Town 1

A HAT-TRICK from Kent League top scorer Marcus Cassius sent leaders Hythe Town crashing to only their third league defeat of the season.

Dave Cook scored a late consolation but it could not disguise an afternoon to forget for Hythe, who were thoroughly outplayed by Erith Town's ten men.

Hythe had not played a competitive game for three weeks due to a succession of postponements. They beat Canterbury City 2-1 in a friendly last week to prepare for the trip to Erith, but it appeared to have made little effect in a lacklustre performance.

The game pitted the division's two most improved teams against each other; Hythe were looking for their sixth successive victory, while Erith's unbeaten run stretched back to mid-November.

With highly-rated goalkeeper Jack Bradshaw unavailable, Erith did not have a recognised goalkeeper in their squad. Defender Dean Kearley filled in between the sticks.

Cassius' 17th goal of the season separated the sides at the break after a tight first half. Hythe had come from behind to win several times this season, but their task became insurmountable when Dean Burns and another from Cassius made it 3-0 with 20 minutes remaining.

The only positive to take from the game was closest challengers Holmesdale lost at lowly Lordswood, so Hythe's two-point lead was preserved.

Manager Paul Fisk will expect a response this Saturday when his side visit third-placed Tunbridge Wells.
